

INCREASE IN WAGES

Raise at the Leading Mines on the Gogebic Iron Range.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

Chapin Mine Will Probably Break All Previous Records This Year.

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—The month begins with an increase in wages, averaging about 10 per cent. at the leading mines of the Gogebic range, and with every indication that the raise so given will be met by the other mines of the district. Not the least gratifying feature of the increase in pay is the manner in which it was brought about. The men, who have no organization, felt that they were entitled to better wages, and after discussing the matter informally, appointed a committee of miners which waited on the manager and preferred the claims of the men. The negotiation was cordially received and the explanation made that a change in the wage schedule rested with the powers above, but that the matter would be referred to one and a prompt answer given. The answer was favorable, the men having asked merely for what they were entitled to, and their requests having been made in a manner that was free from either severity or arrogance. The committee was told that the manager would be glad to listen to employees, whether singly or in groups, at any time upon any point of mutual interest, and the incident left a decidedly pleasant impression upon both employers and employees. Many of the labor troubles in the mines in years past have been brought about largely by reason of the inability of the bosses and the miners to get together in a reasonable spirit and talk matters over before resorting to harsh measures. Humanly being much the same, regardless of social or industrial position, it may be truthfully said that the fault is not one manifested exclusively by either mine superintendents or mine employees. There is always a lurking friction about the mines where the bosses and men talk freely with each other. Little things of vital importance in themselves, frequently develop into the germs of a strike where communication between the two parties and the men of mind is impeded by red tape or senseless pride.

Thomas M. Wells, receiver of the Chapin River Land and Iron company, has finally sold the Swanzy mine to the Starnbaugh Co. of Cleveland, for $55,000. The mine covers 220 acres, including the Swanzy and Chesapeake mines, and is one of the largest and best in the district. The company has a large acreage of mineral and timber land of some little value. The company was organized about eight years ago by Neumann capitalists. A short time later the stockholders began to grow impatient with the management, and the majority of the stock was held by the estates of deceased shareholders, from which the company was organized. The company was hampered by lack of ready cash and the mine was placed in the hands of Mr. Wells, one of the organizers, as receiver. He found it impossible to carry on the property at a price that would pay his debts, but has managed to keep things going for some time by advancing money liberally from his own pocket, with no certainty that it would ever be returned. The mine is now being sold for a fair price is due almost solely to his sagacity and generosity in carrying on the mine for so long a time. His example of conservation of the property in his charges might be followed by other receivers, and much credit to themselves and much profit to the shareholders of unlicked corporations.

The Chapin mine, the largest property of the Neumann range, will probably break all previous records of production this year. The mine was in 1896, when the Chapin took first rank as an iron producer with an output of 100,000 tons. The 1897 production was 125,000 tons. The mine was found in bad shape by the present owners, when taken in 1895, but has been improved in every way, notably by the purchase of the Hamilton and Ludington, adjoining properties. The Chapin has the finest shaft of any iron mine in the country, and is noted for its wetness, making an average of 10,000 gallons of water per hour. The Chapin has two of the largest mine pumps ever built, and although the handling of such an enormous volume of water, especially owing to the great depth of the mine, is necessary, a great deal of money has been expended in less than that in any other mine from which figures are obtainable. The greatest advantage possessed by the Chapin, besides the ownership of enormous deposits of ore, is in the use of compressed air in lieu of steam, power being furnished from the Quinnesba Falls of the Menominee river, several miles distant. The Chapin will abandon its "D" shaft, in order to save an enormous amount of ore, estimated to contain over 1,000,000 tons, which must be left in place to protect the shaft as long as it is used.

There is every indication of a big year's business on the Mesaba range this season. At the mines in and near Hilling the Consolidated company is running 200 men on a single shift, and a night shift will be put at work in a few weeks. At present there is a scarcity of skilled miners at the Mesaba properties, and several hundred good men could find work on that range in a very short time. There is a surplus of unskilled labor still in that district, as well as on the other ranges. Many men who are working in the woods at present will take jobs about the mines with the opening of the season, so there is every reason to apprehend any scarcity of day labor. Miners are also returning to the Marquette, Menominee and Gogebic ranges from Western fields, where they were driven by lack of employment in the hard years following the summer of '93. These men are returning singly, in couples and occasionally in small parties. There is a steady influx from these sources which promises to alleviate the scarcity of skilled workers which has been feared. Old hands who know their work and have lived in the towns to which they return will find employment, hence it would not be advisable for miners from the coal districts to come to Lake Superior mines, they are thoroughly skilled in mining, and have definite promise of work. The coal miners are being driven from their homes as a rule, and unless they have had previous experience in other

When a young woman sits down and ponders over her future life, there is one all-important subject which she should not forget.

In a day dream she may build castles in the air with a happy home, laughing children and a loving husband in the foreground. At that moment she may be facing death. Misery and motherhood hold out no happiness to the young woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organs. The woman who suffers in this way will be a weak, nervous, sickly, petulant wife, an incapable mother, and an unmanageable housewife. Not knowing the truth, her acquaintances will not understand that she is deserving of pity rather than reproach.

Any woman may be strong and healthy in a womanly way if she will use the right remedy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for weak and ailing women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It banishes the dangers that surround maternity. It insures a healthy baby and an ample supply of nourishment. Thousands of women who were weak, sickly, nervous, irritable, and unmanageable, have become competent mothers of healthy children, as the result of the use of this medicine.

Mrs. John W. Conklin, of Patterson, Tenn. writes: "I am a mother of four children, and have been since I took the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had falling of the internal organs, or female weakness, and was very weak when I commenced taking your medicine. I am now strong and healthy, and my children are all well."

branches of mining are not looked on with much favor by the mine bosses. The work of unwearied the Cliff shaft of the Cleveland-Chief company is progressing as rapidly as was hoped, and the mine will not be in shape to resume production early in March, as had been hoped.

The Winthrop mine will probably produce more ore this season than last. The latter year's output of the Winthrop was 150,000 tons, when an output of 191,000 tons was achieved. The product of 1898 is expected to be nearly 200,000 tons, from the previous year.

Reports from the diamond drill exploration being conducted on the Section 25 property near Ely, Minn., by the Ely Mining company, advise of an encouraging nature. The property will not be taken by the Oliver company unless the drills prove the existence of a large deposit of ore. The grade of ore will probably be high, even if quantity is lacking.

The Crotherton mine, at Wakefield, Mich., is to be vigorously worked this year. The Sunday Lake adjoins, and the two mines, separated by a narrow strip of water, so that both must be freed from water if either is worked. A consolidation of the two mines would be to their mutual advantage.

The Penobscot is a Mesaba mine which will come to the front with large output this season. The mining heretofore done has been mainly of a development nature. In view of the heavy consumption of ore conceded as certain to come this year, ore buyers would be pleased to have the Penobscot ore association make its program as soon as possible. The having of large lots of ore would give follow an agreement at any time hereafter. The late sales of several seasons have been made at a price which would make its plans until shortly before the opening of the shipping season.

Millers Send B. C. Church to Stop Sale of Adulterated Flour.

The millers at the head of the lakes met yesterday and selected B. C. Church, president of the Imperial Mill company, to go to Washington, to work for legislation prohibiting the sale of adulterated flour. The millers at the head of the lakes are steadily, and since the latter day, rapidly increasing. Complaints on this score have been numerous that flour, especially spring wheat flour, has been running much darker in color. This has been attributed to the use by Northwestern millers of lower grades of wheat. The latter have denied the charge and asserted that the trouble is that other flour have been blended with corn flour or cornstarch. Millers have reached a stage where the local millers have decided it to be necessary to act in order to protect their interests, and hence their action yesterday. They adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, the practice of unscrupulous and dishonest millers and others of adulterating pure wheat flour by the mixing in or blending of corn starch, corn flour or other adulterants in order to cheapen the price of flour is antagonistic to the welfare of the flour consuming public and detrimental to the best interests of the milling business,

"Resolved, that we, the members of the Head of the Lakes Millers' association, hereby pledge ourselves to use all legitimate means to overcome this growing evil and to force those who mix other products with wheat flour to stop, except or mark their product as to designate plainly the constituents of such mixture.

"And be it further resolved that to this end we pledge our earnest co-operation and financial aid to any organization to suppress this evil and to force those who mix other products with wheat flour to stop, except or mark their product as to designate plainly the constituents of such mixture.

"Resolved, that we, the members of the Head of the Lakes Millers' association, hereby pledge ourselves to use all legitimate means to overcome this growing evil and to force those who mix other products with wheat flour to stop, except or mark their product as to designate plainly the constituents of such mixture.

THE PLANT IS SOLD

Gas and Water Plants Bid In By Bondholders for $700,000.

WAS BUT ONE BID

J. L. Washburn Bid and Bought, Putting Up Certified Check for $10,000.

J. L. Washburn, as trustee for Samuel Undermyer, of New York, bid in the plants of the Duluth Gas and Water company at noon today for $700,000.

The plant was to have been sold Saturday by Victor Stearns, special master in chancery, by appointment of the federal court. Upon the request of the plaintiff in the case, the sale was postponed until today.

The sale took place at the east door of the court house. Long before the noon hour "Bully" Craig arrived at the court house. He took off his gloves and overcoat and helped himself to the steam heat in the sheriff's office. George C. Squiers, the St. Paul attorney, also was there ahead of time. He carried a leather grip in which he had a lot of documents with blue jackets. He took them out and shuffled them long and carefully on a table near the entrance into his confidence as to what they were about.

City Attorney Richards was another early bird for he had a card to play in the deal. On the noon car came Special Master in Chancery Stearns. S. T. Harrison and J. L. Washburn.

It was only a few minutes past noon when Mr. Stearns commenced to read the foreclosure notice. Mr. Squiers and Mr. Craig went inside and donned their gloves and comfortable overcoats.

The document read gave notice to all concerned that the sale was to satisfy a mortgage held by the bondholders in the sum of $1,500,000. Interest on that sum was $150,000. The document also stated that the sale was to be made by the special master in chancery, called for bids. City Attorney J. B. Richards announced that he had a card to play in the deal. On the noon car came Special Master in Chancery Stearns. S. T. Harrison and J. L. Washburn.

It was only a few minutes past noon when Mr. Stearns commenced to read the foreclosure notice. Mr. Squiers and Mr. Craig went inside and donned their gloves and comfortable overcoats.

The document read gave notice to all concerned that the sale was to satisfy a mortgage held by the bondholders in the sum of $1,500,000. Interest on that sum was $150,000. ## INDOOR BASEBALL GAME.

How Duluth and Minneapolis Will Line Up Monday.

The indoor baseball game at the Armory Monday night between the teams from Company I of the First regiment, of Minneapolis, and Company G of the Third regiment, of Duluth, is sure to draw a large crowd, even larger number of tickets have been sold already. The game is expected to be a lively one, as the visiting team is said to be one of the best in the state. The local team has not yet met any of the outside teams, so it is hard to tell what it stands in comparison, but it is likely, judging from the games that have been played locally, that it will stand as good a show as the Minneapolis team. The game will be followed by the usual informal dance. The line-up for the game will be as follows:

Company I. Catcher..... Snow
Pitcher..... Robinson
First..... Evers
Second..... Walsh

THE BIBLE INSTITUTE.

Rev. Patterson Tells Reasons for Believing the Bible.

At the afternoon session yesterday of the Bible institute, Rev. Alexander Patterson delivered an address on "How to Get Rid of Anxiety." The Christian life, he argued, should be free from care.

At the session last evening, the subject "How and Why We Believe in the Bible" was discussed by Mr. Patterson. The authenticity of the New Testament, he said, was now a practically determined fact. It was no longer a subject for the most skeptical scholars. Also, many of the later books of the Old Testament were authenticated by modern scholarship. The speaker drew from history and archaeology to show the accuracy of the Bible.

WHAT IT HAS COST

Cost of the Supplementary Water System Up to Date.

THE CITY OFFICES

What the Various Candidates For City Offices Are Doing Today.

There has been paid out on the supplementary water system to Feb. 1, the sum of $60,000. The estimate of the total cost is $750,000, and it is thought that it will fall not far from that figure.

There has been paid out on contract work, which amounts to the estimated total of $626,800.48, the sum of but $15,000 for extras, properly speaking. The crib work at the intake, which cost $500, is included in the total of extras, it being provided in the contract for the intake that the crib should go in as extra work owing to the impossibility of determining in advance what the cost would be for the crib.

Several condemnation cases, pending against the city, have been continued. The case of the St. Paul National bank vs. Leonard Merritt vs. Cant. The sheriff's sale of land in the sum of $200, in the case of P. L. Enslin vs. Mathias Haug, was confirmed. In the case of J. J. Hubbard vs. Kimberly et al, the defendant was given leave to answer, and the plaintiff was allowed $10 costs.

The engineering supervision, including tests, has cost, to the date named, the sum of $22,072.33. This is about 3 per cent on the total cost. This is very low, the usual allowance being 10 per cent. This and the expenditure for day labor, amounting to $80,000.23, are the principal items in the miscellaneous expenditures, the total of which is $82,072.33. Of the sum paid out, $44,798.72 was on contracts. The amount remaining to be paid out on contracts is $104,492.42. The cost will overrun the estimates about $20,000, in which sum is included $7000 on the pumps and the $5000 for the crib.

Hughes to upset the calculations in regard to the municipal clerkship made by those who are parcelling out the scanty supply of plums, together with the looming up of Clerk Fairfax, who was supposed to be dead, are stirring Judge Edson is being waited on about three times a day by committees, self-appointed otherwise, in regard to the matter. Chairman Salter of the Republican city committee and Amos Warner awakened yesterday afternoon to the necessity of an exertion to hold things down for Walter Ingalls, and hustled down to the city hall and had a long confab with Judge Edson. What the result of that was, they did not say very happily, certainly after the talk.

John A. Keyes is looming up as a candidate for city attorney, and his friends are very active in his behalf. For a number of days the names of candidates thus far are John H. Brigham and T. J. McKee.

DEAF MUTES NOW HAVE MILITARY TRAINING.

New York Institution Where the Boys Are Reviewed and Drilled By Signs---They Parade as Well as the Famous Seventh, and Play Football Too.

Copyright, 1898, by Bachelor Syndicate.

The seemingly marvelous feat of playing a football game in absolute silence has just been accomplished in New York city. Every player was deaf and dumb and yet it is doubtful if ever a contest over the piskin was conducted with more enthusiasm than this.

One of the great institutions of New York is called the Panwood institution for the instruction of the deaf and dumb, and it is here that some of the most remarkable experiments with persons bereft of voice and hearing have taken place. The football game by two regulation football teams is one of the most interesting of them all, but not more so than the military drill.

This latter experiment is a decided innovation, for up to within a short time experts have positively declared that military training was an impossibility for the deaf. This supposedly well-grounded theory has been entirely demolished by the achievements of the pupils of the Panwood school.

The correctness with which they execute the maneuvers exceeds that of many well-drilled military companies possessing every faculty, and in fact their proficiency in military tactics makes it unnecessary to recall their misfortune, deafness, as an excuse. The army men have complimented them upon the success that they have achieved, and the pleasure it is for the casual observer to see them on dress parade can be a band; but they marched like veterans, and kept their distances with great success. After that came the competitive drill. Company A opened the ball. The commands were given by the judge to the major, who put them into finger talk. It was wonderful to see how quickly they were put and executed. And as in A company, so in B and C companies. The mistakes made were such as a hearing captain often makes when he hears a command wrongly, and gives "Right!" when he should give "Left!"

The companies in turn marched in company front, broke into fours, formed line to the right and left and to the front, opened ranks, did the facing, closed ranks, formed column of twos, and reformed fours; all the time the boys in the ranks had to watch their captain's hand, to see the boy ahead, and to look after his own feet. It was a wonderful example of rising superior to circumstances. Company B won the colors for the year; its four kept together better than in A company, C company is composed of little chaps, and though they put up a good drill, they were outclassed.

Hearing the competitive drill, the ceremony occurs every Sunday afternoon and any one who is interested in wonderful things can see it. And if he waits long enough, he will see a little simple ceremony that will make him proud--the color guard of those deaf and dumb boys marching up to the flag staff and standing bareheaded as the sergeant lowers the flag. They don't let the stars and stripes touch the judge, after thinking it over, decided on this method of enforcing the law and parental discipline at the same time.

The judge was often compelled to make the best of the unpleasant knowledge that the bad boys' fines were paid by the hard-working and sober fathers. So he arranged to inflict this sentence upon refractory youngsters that came before him. They should be taken to a cell in the prison where they must submit to sound floggings by the fathers in the presence of one of the officials of the court or prison.

It seems next to impossible to enforce a sentence of this sort, but the judge was pleasantly surprised by the exceeding willingness of the fathers to help carry it out. When the punishment was imposed the prisoner was taken to the specially assigned cell and tried up--that is, fastened to the bars of the cell. Next his father was given a stout leather strap and told to inflict the sentence of the court. Not a single father has declined to take this action as yet.

Recently the Humane society of Evansville had the matter brought to their attention, it being stated to them that the walls of the boy prisoners could often be heard in the rear of the city prison. So the society felt compelled to interfere, thinking that the punishment was inhuman and not befitting the crime, but the police court adhered to its policy, asserting that it was less inhuman to give a bad boy a well-deserved thrashing than to compel a hard-working father to spend Slosson has been hard at work practicing for the match, and sets the effect of his recent illness against him back at the last minute he will be in good condition. The conditions of the match are 600 points on 16-inch balls for $200 a side and the Brunswick-Balke-Clender trophy.

COMBINATION A UNIQUE ONE.

W. C. T. U. Soap Enterprise Promises to Be a Success.

One of the oddest combinations that have come to light for some time is one just entered into by Swift & Co., the big stock yards firm, and the National Woman's Christian Temperance union. It appears that the W. C. T. U. is in need of funds for furthering its work by the purchase of literature, organizing, and the many different means which require money. On the other hand, Swift & Co. had just purchased the plant and trade mark of wool soap, which has become known by the quaint picture of two ladies in their little shirts, one of whom, with a shirt of comfortable length, says: "My Mamma used wool soap," and the other, whose shirt is shorter, is apparently shrunken, replies: "I wish mine had." Of course, Swift's venture needed advertising.

Now, this is exactly where the combination was effected. Hearing that the W. C. T. U. needed funds, Swift's people made an offer of 1 cent for every wool soap wrapper handed over to them by the National W. C. T. U. before Jan. 1, 1898. It is needless to say that this generous proposal was immediately embraced by Helen M. Barker, treasurer of the union, and President Frances Willard, for it is estimated that if the temperance women use this soap and persuade their friends to do the same all this year, $15,000 can be added to the funds available for fighting the liquor traffic.

Arrangements are now being made by the various state unions all over the country to systematize the collection of the wrappers from the members, and through their friends. All are to be forwarded to headquarters in Chicago, and Mrs. Barker will collect the money from Swift & Co. Of the money so received 70 per cent is to be retained by the treasurer for use of the national union, while the other 30 per cent will be returned to the state treasurer for local use. Prizes have been offered to the woman sending in the largest number of wrappers, and also for the women sending the largest number from each state.

SOME BIG DERRICKS.

Describing some of the appliances for facilitating the building operations on the Grand Central station at New York the Tribune says: One of them, which stands at the side of the platform across the bridge, has an "arm reach" of 150 feet, and can pick up with a single clutch ten tons of steel beams at a time. These beams, swung like scissor arms, sink into a giant grasp from wagon to top of platform, which they are deposited across the bridge over the scaffolding where the "traveling derrick" stands. This latter is an engineering monster of technical intelligence. It swings down and grapples the beams, and then, moving slowly forward, sets them in place, not cross beams alone, but columns as well, afterward passing over and beyond these. In this way it moves from one end of the building to the other, returning on its path to set the beams for the next story. Some of these steel beams weigh as much as six tons each. This machine can lift and lay 20 tons a day, or about eleven and one-half tons at a single grasp.

MOTHER WAS NOT IN IT.

Little Johnny Sweet, who had only seen four short summers, was very naughty one afternoon, says the Chicago Journal, and his mamma whipped him. Johnny was very much offended with her for this mode of procedure, and treated her with the strictest silence for the remainder of the day, cutting his supper without deigning to notice her in any way.

When his bedtime came she called him in and addressed him for bed. He still maintaining much dignity, he knelt down as was his custom, to say "Now I lay me down to sleep, and after asking God to bless his papa, grandma, grandpa, aunt and uncle, his servant girl, he turned to his mother and said with emphasis: "You ain't in it!"

UNCLE SAM'S NEW SHIP FOR APPRENTICES.

Gunboat Vicksburg for Boys Who Would Become Jack Tars In Our Navy---Gunnery the Most Important Study---How They Live Aboard Ship.

Copyright, 1898, by Bachelor Syndicate.

On every vessel of war that flies the stars and stripes there are a number of boys from 15 to 20 years old, who are known as apprentices. They are learning to be able seamen, meaning that when they reach that degree of proficiency in seamanship, that they will be able to "hand, reef and steer."

Before they are placed aboard the war craft and become part of the vessel's complement of workers, it is necessary they should be given a course in seamanship, for a green boy aboard a man-of-war is about as useless an article as can be imagined. For some years past, the old Alliance has served as a vessel of instruction for these boys, but old age and steady service have so told upon the ship that she has been forced to lie by for a while and the navy department has provided as her substitute the new and fast gunboat Vicksburg.

A handsome ship that the Vicksburg does not fly the United States flag. She is as trim as a swallow and has some very good records to her credit, in spite of her youth. Just how she looks can be learned from the accompanying illustration, which is from a photograph taken especially that the boys who read this article may know exactly how the Vicksburg looks.

On the navy list she appears as an "unarmored composite gunboat of barkentine rig." She was built at Bath, Maine, and represents all that is newest and best in her particular fashion crew of a gun. It is rapidly becoming the case that the ordinary seaman's most direct road to promotion lies in his knowledge of gunnery and the skill he develops in sighting a gun.

There is no favoritism aboard the Vicksburg, and every boy Jack who forms one of her complement will have the same chance to fit himself for the duties he has decided to take up. In order that there may be the fullest opportunity for this, the training ship takes frequent cruises and her juvenile crew is given every aid to become familiar with the workings of such guns as a light draft gunboat like the Vicksburg carries.

As a matter of fact, the Vicksburg is just now absent on one of those self same cruises and her boy crew is being exercised in all the points of the drill every day, except Sunday. The routine of life aboard the Vicksburg is exactly that which exists on the Helena, the gunboat that started for the Asiatic station not long ago, but is lying in one of the ports in the Azores and waiting the result of the Cuban trouble.

In this way the apprentices become thoroughly accustomed to the discipline aboard ship, so that when they are drafted to such vessels as the Indiana or Brooklyn, they will feel quite at home, and be of service instead of getting in everybody's way through ignorance.

For several years past, there has been a notable improvement in the class of sailors that man the ships of the United States navy. Leading naval officers declare that the apprentices have brought head of the first class sent out by the naval academy, under its present organization. He was the first officer to receive a diploma from the academy. In February, 1860, he became a lieutenant, and was ordered home from the African coast to the flagship Cumberland. He took part in the bombardment and capture of the Norfolk navy yard, and in the assault and taking of the Hatteras forts. Immediately after the sinking of appreciated. When one pauses to consider it is really marvelous to think of what they have successfully accomplished under so many difficulties.

Deaf boys are obliged to watch their alignments, file leader, to see that they are in step, and their commander, all at the same time. These are some of the obstructions which make their success the greater triumph to those who appreciate what military training demands of the recruit.

To organize such a system in a school of this kind is by no means an easy task. The deaf have a peculiar gait, one might say a sliding walk, and as it is impossible for them to realize the disagreeable sound that is made, it is naturally hard to remedy. Then, again, not having the use of the ear, they have no idea of cadence as the hearing man understands it, and the instructor is compelled to beat time by waving his hand, making an additional tax upon the eye of the cadet.

The school uniform is of gray cloth, with black trimmings, a forage cap having the initials of the institution in a neat monogram on the front. Only a few boys were taken at a time when the drill began and these formed into squads, afterwards companies, later a complete battalion. Every member of the battalion will be furnished with a quaker gun, which is a regulation Springfield rifle, with the single exception that part of the barrel is of wood, which after all is preferable, and insures perfect safety. The officers carry their swords in the regular way and give commands by raising the left hand and using the manual alphabet.

With the exception of the positions of the officers, all formations and ceremonies are in strict accordance with the Infantry drill regulations of the United States army. The changes therefrom are made only when the regulations require the commander to be in the rear, or such positions where it is impossible for all the boys to see him.

The drill overcomes the shuffling of the feet, secures an erect carriage, inculcates habits of neatness, affords to all an equal opportunity of being well dressed, and is developing the boys physically.

During the spring and fall the boys drill half an hour every day, and on Sundays have a battalion parade.

It was the fortune of the writer not long ago to witness one of these strange drills. The ceremony began with a battalion parade. The companies marched on to the parade ground, formed on the center company in accordance with regulations, and went through the entire ceremony as well as many a battalion at Peekskill. Line was formed, guns sent to their ports, ranks opened. Not a word was spoken; the boys kept their eyes on the eloquent fingers of the adjutant; he looked them at present arms (as they had no rifles as yet, each boy saluted with his right hand at his cap) and turned the battalion over to the major, the regular instructor. The major put the battalion through two motions of the manual that can be executed without arms; the first sergeants reported, orders were published, the officers advanced to the major. Except for the silence, the parade might have been of the gray-coated Seventh.

Then came a review, when the boys showed what they could do in marching. There was no music of course, so they didn't have the steady effect of ground; it is folded in the air and carried back to headquarters; and day by day it is hoisted and lowered, and that deaf and dumb color guard keeps it out of the dust and mire.

WHIPPING POST REVIVED FOR BAD BOYS.

Copyright, 1898, by Bachelor Syndicate.

It has been left to an Indiana police justice to discover an ingenious use for the whipping post. He utilizes it to discipline small boys, and so far his operations are declared to have been beneficial. Judge Winfrey is the jurist and Evansville, Ind., the place. For some time the judge has been puzzled to decide what to do with the youngsters who are brought before him for offenses that were not criminal in themselves, but were in the nature of disorderly conduct resulting from the inability of parents to control the children.

Reprimands served no purpose unless to make the bad boys think that they could easily escape punishment, and so one or two weeks' wages in getting him out of trouble, not counting the deprivation to his family that expenditure called for.

The Humane society jelled and Evansville's bad boys are turning over new leaves.

A GEORGIA ROMANCE.

In the big hurricane railroad wreck of March 17, 1888 near Blackshear, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. George Gould were both slightly injured, says the Philadelphia Press. They were cared for at the Brown house, a hostelry kept by Dr. and Mrs. Allen Brown. During the stay of the Goulds a little child, Lily Converse, 5 years of age, accompanied Mrs. Brown on her visit to Mrs. Gould's room. The waving, flaxen hair and fair complexion of the child, and her pretty manners and lovely disposition were noticed by Mrs. Gould, who professed to have fallen in love with her.

The child's mother had been deserted by her husband, and she was penniless and helpless, and the Goulds made her all sorts of offers for Lily, but the mother refused to part with her. After Mrs. Gould left Blackshear she corresponded with Mrs. Converse and made repeated efforts to have Lily come to her. Finally Mrs. Converse died in a fever, and for a while the child was lost sight of, but it now appears that she is here, and for a while she lived in New York, and it is surmised that Mr. and Mrs. Gould are educating her. She is about 15 years of age and is said to be a very beautiful girl.

of ship building. She is 168 feet long and her extreme breadth 36 feet. When her armament and crew are aboard her mean draft is 8 feet and her maximum draft 13 feet 1 inch. Her displacement is 1000 tons.

Down in her engine room is a single screw, vertical, triple-expansion engine, which will furnish power to drive her through the water at an average speed of twelve knots an hour. Her maximum indicated horse power is 1000. If the reader will think these facts over carefully and remember that a gunboat is a much smaller vessel than a cruiser, it will be easy to see that the boys who sail aboard the Vicksburg will have an advantage that has never before fallen to the lot of a green apprentice.

It must be understood that the Vicksburg is by no means a school ship. The boys on a school ship are not in training for the navy, although an officer of the navy is in command of the ship. On the Vicksburg, however, boys are enlisted for a term of five years' service. From the day he slings his hammock he is amenable to the discipline of the United States navy and begins at once to learn what the duties of Uncle Sam's sailors are.

In the old days it used to be necessary for naval apprentices to have actual experience in a sailing vessel, but that is not a requisite now, and while the boys are required to study practical seamanship in so far as sailing vessels are concerned, they do not become adepts in the kind so necessary to those who intend to follow the sea in the service of the merchant marine.

Gunnery is the navy apprentices' must learn. Every one of them has to serve in some capacity as one of the this about. The result of it is that the men of our navy are a whole rank higher than those of any navy in the world. So that it can easily be seen that the boy with a seafaring instinct who wants to try his fortune outside of the officers' quarters can be sure that the Jack tar who wears the blue of Uncle Sam has every reason to be proud of his calling.

ADMIRAL SELFIDGE RETIRES.

His Father, Also Retired, Now Ninety-Three Years Old.

Washington, Feb. 5.--The retirement of Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, of the United States navy, which takes place at midnight tonight, is of unusual interest, from the fact that it will place two officers of the same name, both rear admirals, father and son, on the retired list. The elder Selfridge is 92 years old, while the son will tomorrow reach his 62nd year. The career of the younger admiral has been full of stirring and dramatic incidents. He has seen three fighting episodes during the war than any other naval officer. On three different occasions his ship was sunk, and another time he was blown up with his boat's crew by a torpedo. He commanded the gunboat battery of the Cumberland, when she was sunk by the Merrimack, the day before the latter vessel had her big fight with the Monitor.

Thomas O. Selfridge, Jr., entered the navy as a cadet midshipman in October, 1851, and was graduated in 1853, at the vessels, he had charge of the survey of the proposed inter-oceanic ship canal across the isthmus of Darien. He was made captain in 1881, and commodore in April, 1884. He has always been one of the most popular officers in the service. Both he and his father, the old admiral, make their residence in this city, and both of their wives are living.

SKATES AT LOW FIGURES.

Ten skates are much cheaper than they were ten years ago. East steel American club skates are sold as cheap as 50 cents a pair, and rolled steel blades skates as low as $1. Skates of the same general style, but handsomely nickel-plated and engraved, sell at from $3 to $5. The most expensive skates, made of welded iron and steel, hardened and tempered, cost $10 and $12 a pair, says the New York Herald.

There is no longer a general market for old "rocker" skates, which need a heel screw and a collection of straps to secure properly to the shoe, but a few professional racing skates of this description, which have 14, 16 and 18-inch blades, are still sold. There is quite a heavy demand for "speed" skates for racing and straightaway skating, and they sell for $5.

The game of hockey is responsible for a large demand for specially built skates which sell for $1 and $5, and are of two styles, the Canadian and American. The Canadian hockey skate is permanently fastened to the heel and sole of the shoe with screws. It has flat blades from ten to eleven and one-half inches long. The American hockey skate is of two kinds. One is similar to the Canadian and the other has the old familiar heel button.

The result of the city election in Duluth appears to be pretty generally satisfactory to the people of Hibbing, who have a greater interest in these matters than might be supposed. The time is not far away when the people of St. Louis county will have to assert themselves at local as well as general elections, or come entirely under the control of the corporations. The stakes are being arranged here much the same as they were in Duluth, and predictions are being freely made that the result will be the same as it was there.

THE TRADE OUTLOOK

Dun Says Actual Payments In January Were Largest Ever Known.

New York, Feb. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade today says: Actual payments through clearing houses in January made a remarkable showing, having been larger than in any previous month, 36.3 per cent larger than the same month last year and 7.1 per cent larger than in 1897. The figures in January were smaller than in any previous year of which there is record, and were probably smaller than in any other January since 1881. The statement by branches of business given this week shows a surmounting gain in most departments of manufacture and trade. Although the money market is as confident as ever, gold does not come in in large amounts.

Business in the West is more active than in any other part of the country. The United States is a barefooted feature of the week has been the decline in wheat, which was 100,000 bushels against 1,000,000 bushels last year.

The February Woman's Home Companion proves an exceptionally valuable and interesting source of reading matter and character and profusion of illustration. The artistic cover page is a study in justice to the spirit of the Lenten season. The event of St. Valentine's day is marked by some choice and exquisite verses: "The Poet to His Love," by Clayton Solland; "To Marguerite," by Winwood Wyatt; and "A Valentine," by William Henry Channing. The poems from Hester Caldwell Oakley, Robert Loveman and Ernest McGowan are also of interest. The editor of this magazine is one of its chief points of merit. A well-known member of the Mechanics Institute of Civil Engineering of London, B. Morley Fletcher, has actually invented and is experimenting with a motor which obtains its propulsion from the waves of the ocean.
For very many years the utilization of the power to be derived from the waves has been a problem which has been a fascinating subject for inventors. This motor of Mr. Fletcher's is intended to overcome the major stage, and the motor shows a most promising illustration is reproduced from a photo-graph taken of the original inventor.
This tells the idea of the action of the new wave power motor: If a straight object such as a walking stick is placed in the water, a little resistance is offered by the fluid, but if a small disk of any rigid material is affixed to the end of the stick, considerable resistance will result, the amount depending on the size of the disk.

In the case of this wave motor the stick is in reality a long tube, having at its upper extremity a piston working in a cylinder. The piston is a disk of wood. The disc with tube attached is so constructed that when detached from the motor it will be joined in the water, it will just float on the surface of the tube vertically out of the water.

When the whole apparatus is placed in the water the disc sinks to its normal position and the tube floats on the waves. As the waves rise and fall the buoy follows suit, but the resistance of the sunken disc is so great that it practically does not rise at all. As a consequence, the buoy with the cylinder attached moves up and down the tube, and the power thus obtained measured by the resistance of the disk, which may be utilized at will.

There are, of course, several details, such as pipes and valves into the use of which the motor is to be put. There are innumerable ways in which such a motor may be employed, such as in supplying the motive power for the pump which is used in the pumping station, in pumping water into tanks, for street watering, and the continuous use of the motor in blowing whistles or fog horns on dangerous parts of the coast.

The wave motor idea has been once or twice brought to the experimental test. The latest approach to success was made by Mayor Adolph Sutro in San Francisco, who had a wave motor that really did work, but he was too busy to have time to come to buy it, however, neither did Mr. Sutro give evidence of being able to make a motor, and so it practically passed into oblivion.

Gossip of The Stage

The only adequate performance of grand opera in Duluth is likely to have this season will be given at the Lyceum theater next Friday night by Mme. Scatchi and her company of operatic artists. Scatchi is said to be one of the greatest artists in her line that the world has ever seen. She is the famous contralto who shared the honors with Patti until that singer became jealous and since then Scatchi has been the great attraction of all the ideal performances given in London and New York. Mme. Scatchi has been more in demand than any operatic artist either in Europe or America and she excels, however, in the grand operatic boys' parts which have some of the best music in the entire operatic works allotted to them. No one has ever so large and flexible and of noble quality. It is owing to her magnificent diction that in all the music she sings, whether of the classic, dramatic, comic or sentimental school she is so very effective. Scatchi has taken the great contralto as her model, hence her success.

Associated with the great contralto is Mlle. Toulouquet, who is said to be

has the distinction of having sung before more people than any artist on the lyric stage. For ten years she alternated between St. Petersburg, London and New York, hardly missing one month of the whole year and constantly singing at the various opera houses of the two continents. Scatchi is also the one contralto who is complete mistress of the hard and highly dramatic school, she sings the immensely difficult "Aida" as well as the heavy and deep notes that fall to the lot of Amneris, "Aida" and Azucena, "Trovatore." She

the coming dramatic soprano of the operatic world. Last season she created a furore by her superb singing, "Aida" from the two artists mentioned. The contralto and baritone T. McQueen, and Signor Alberti, are operatic celebrities. In the operatic part of the entertainment, which includes a complete act of grand opera given in full costume with proper scenery, paraphernalia, etc., the principal parts will be sung by Mme. Scatchi, Mlle. Toulouquet, Mlle. du Bedat, Mr. McQueen and Sign. Alberti. The first part of the program is made up of miscellaneous numbers in which each of the named artists will sing a favorite number.

Edmund D. Lyons, the imitable William McWhirter in "A Coat of Many Colors," is a Scotchman and the son of an actor. He made his first appearance in Edinburgh in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," under the management of his father, but he was a source of disgust to his father that he adopted the stage. Henry Irving was in the same cast. Lyons was a schoolboy at the time, and among his school companions was Robert Louis Stevenson, with whom a warm friendship existed.

After leaving school he went to Liverpool and played in the stock company at the Alexandria theater for the next three years. It was during this time that he made the acquaintance of William Collins, who took him to London and made him stage manager of the Globe theater, and with him went three of his companions—A. W. Pinero, afterward a great playwright, Robert Lytton, a brother, and Leonard Boyne. After leaving the Globe he was comedian for a year, and then joined forces with the Court theater, and then with the Princess, leaving the latter to become comedian at the Drury Lane, and remained with the late Sir Augustus Harris two years.

In 1887 he came to America with Robert Louis Stevenson's play, "Deacon Brodie," which was not a howling success. In '88 he became stage manager at McVicker's, Chicago, and it was under his direction that "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was produced. Mr. Lyons played the part of Bottom. The following year he produced the "Tempest." Then came a tour of Canada and the West Indies. He was the stage manager for the original production of "Friends," playing the part of Otto. The next two seasons were spent in the delightful company of Richard Mansfield. After his engagement with Mansfield he went to England for the summer, and on his return joined A. M. Palmer, playing in "Heartsease" at the Grand Northern, Chicago, and when the bubble burst he returned to New York and entered the ranks of the Frohman forces. Last summer he played a series of Shakespearean characters in St. Louis, at one of the suburban gardens. The venture was so successful that after the season of "A Coat of Many Colors" closes he will return to St. Louis for the summer. Mr. Lyons also managed the operatic production of "As You Like It" at the World's fair on Shakespeare day, playing Touchstone.

The cast was composed of such well-known people as Laura Burt, Rose Coghlan, E. J. Henley, Otis Skinner, John T. Sullivan, John Glenherring and others. During his whole career Mr. Lyons has played about 300 parts.

Thomas Quigley Seabrooke seems to have made more or less of a success over in London. Mr. Seabrooke was largely successful in this his native land until his many complications attracted the attention of the courts, but it was so inconvenient dodging process, servers who carried writs of subpoena that he forsook these shores for England.

Edward Evergreen Rice has so surprised New York with the clocks which he uses as souvenirs to mark the progress of his "Girl" plays that some one was unkind enough to say that the timepieces had locomotor ataxia.

Walter E. Perkins, who created the part of the theatrical barber in "My Friend Fenn," is said to be a member of the production of that amusing comedy were mainly due, is starting through New England in a snuffbox and his tour a continuous success. Next season Perkins will be seen in a play which Du Souchet is now writing for him.

There are, doubtless, many people who do not believe that Anna Held ever took a bath in milk, but she convinced some of them last week in Pittsburgh. Held's tour a continuous success. Next season Perkins will be seen in a play which Du Souchet is now writing for him.

They are telling a good one-night stand story about an oboe player in the Boston Symphony orchestra. The orchestra was playing in a snuffbox and his tour a continuous success. Next season Perkins will be seen in a play which Du Souchet is now writing for him.

Thomas W. Keene is playing his "legitimate" repertoire in Boston, and after "Othello" was given much applause he made a speech in which he said: "The legitimate drama is not dead." Mr. Keene neglected to state that the so-called legitimate drama had received some of its heaviest shocks from himself.

Has it ever occurred to the patrons of the stage and its offerings that David Henderson—and he is in obscurity now—had a company so well adapted to the requirements of his peculiar brand of burlesque that its members did not seem to be appropriately placed when the vicissitudes in the Henderson fortunes forced them into other connections? Eddie Foy never seemed really funny after he left Henderson and his "All Baba," "The Crystal Slipper" and "Blue Beard, Jr." and Ada Deaves, whose caricatures on femininity were such an amusing feature of the Henderson productions, has never been so happily placed as in the grotesques which she created under Henderson's management. Another of the Henderson forces who has been strangely quiet since misfortune marked the Chicago manager for its own is Ida Mülle and she has but recently emerged from her retirement to announce that she has secured several of the pieces with which London was identified and proposes to go a-staring in them.

Henry Miller, who was last seen here with the Empire stock company in "The Masqueraders," has secured a play called "The Master." Miller has been starring for two seasons in a play by Charles Klein, author of the book "The Cavalier," called "Heartsease." Charles Klein is a brother of the diminutive Alfred, who furnishes such a capital foil for Hopper.

They do say that hot scotchies will be given as souvenirs when "Beside the Bonnie Brar Bush" passes its first milestone. J. H. Stoddard will play the principal part.

There will soon be an addition to the troupe of the stage in the diminutive person of "Ted" Shione, the jockey. Some persons unknown have written a play for him, called "On the Flat," and he is to follow in the footsteps of Corbett, Sullivan, Steve Brodie, B. J. and "Chuck" Connors, and play it.

Julia Stewart, the wife of Frank Curran, a manager popular with many people, is now playing a round of serious characters at the Schiller theater in Chicago. John M. Handley, well known here, is the press agent for the Schiller.

Next season W. H. Crane will appear in "Treasure Grove," a play by Louis Parker, co-author of "Rosemary."

William Gillette and his company sail for London about April 1, to appear at the Garrick theater on April 15 in "Too Much Johnson."

The actor folk of New York have learned to love "The Little Church Around the Corner" so well that it is now proposed by several of their number to erect a steeple over the edifice as memorial to the late pastor, Rev. George Houghton. The quantity titled building has been without that architectural adornment during all of its existence, but the neglect will be atoned for in the cost of the projected spire, which will cost $20,000.

James A. Hoar has quit New York with "Shore Acres" and is now out for a season's run. His stay in New York was not a happy one, but the one feature brought out was in the triumph of Miss Julia Harnoe, the actor's young daughter, who made her debut during the stay in Gotham, and has been highly spoken of by nearly all of the reviewers.

Gladys Wallace, the winsome little actress who has been in a lot of local plays, is going to try her hand at comic opera. She and Edna Wallace Hopper can make bids for being the smallest stars in the business. Miss Wallace will probably make her debut as a member of "The Circus Girl" company.

They are cautious in presenting those untold quantities in presents those who do not believe that Anna Held ever took a bath in milk, but she convinced some of them last week in Pittsburgh. Held's tour a continuous success. Next season Perkins will be seen in a play which Du Souchet is now writing for him.

A new theater is to be built in Philadelphia. It will be finished in time for the opening of next season.

The sick which Mansfield carries "as George Brummel in 'Beau Brummel' was once the property of the historic dandy. The actor was at no time so vain as to come into possession of it. In this same piece he uses a snuffbox owned by Brummel, and the actor, who once adorned the person of the real fop, as Dr. John Jones, a fellow who wrote the novel "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Mansfield, who is now playing an engagement in Chicago, is expected to play "The First Violin," with which he and the members of his company are laboring now to make presentable for performance. A brilliant success is anticipated for this play. It follows the lines of the book.

Rev. John Talbot Smith, of New York, and held in high esteem by his countrymen, has written a drama entitled "The Black Cavalier." It is said that a Broadway manager is offering him a large sum of money to produce it. It is a historical drama, and its plot is founded on the struggle between Napoleon I and Pope Pius VII.

Charles Dana Burrows, a nephew of Speaker Thomas B. Reed, is engaged to be married to Miss Adelaide Mason, a daughter of the well-known actress, Marion Manola, and heretofore a member of the dramatic profession. Miss Mason is 17 years old and is very beautiful.

Theater-goers in New York may observe Lent with severe exactness. Arrangements have been made to reproduce the passion play at Daly's by means of the cinematograph. The tableaux and the complete stage action as given at Horitz will be pictured by the cinematograph, to the accompaniment of appropriate music, vocal and instrumental.

Robert Taber, according to the English critics, seems to have been about the only actor in that immense cast who has made a success of a part in Henry Irving's "Peter the Great." Playgoers appear to have come to the conclusion that "Peter the Great" is neither a good nor a good play, and that Sir Henry Irving's impersonation will not rank among his triumphs.

Either the press agent has invented an interesting bit of flattery, or else the drama has come to be a civilizing agent even in Chicago. The story is related that when "Shore Acres" was produced in Chicago there were in the audience two brothers who, as the result of a quarrel, had not spoken to each other in years. As a result of their performance they made up their difficulties, and in gratitude to Mr. Horne presented him with a silver loving cup as a token of the happiness his simple play had brought them.

A SPOILED ALLIANCE

How a Romance Was Nipped In the Bud By Late Election.

A CHIPPEWA NOTE

Society Happenings from the Reservation That Might Occur Elsewhere.

One wedding that threatened to burst from bad into bloom possibly has met with a blight. Feet that were impatient to dance at nuptial festivities may have to point their toes in a different direction. Old shoes and stores of rice, so-questered for a special purpose, may be diverted to another purpose. Two hearts that should beat as one may henceforth thump doubly and apart. And all this on account of Mayor Truelsen's re-election.

In one of Duluth's restaurants toils a maiden most fair. No one can shoot bullets better than she. Orders for "crayfish steaks," "sinkers and a black draw" and "smoked Venues" or any other life-saving product, always come more quickly and safely at her hands.

Of this maiden a sturdy union man has been enamored for many moons. About two weeks ago he decided that a little union of two should be organized. So he waited on his heart's choice.

Calling the meeting to order he said: "Samantha, I'm tired of this unfair existence in boarding houses and restaurants. I want to organize a little union with you and work for domestic bliss and some comfort. We'll both carry working cards and I'll pay all the dues. What do you say?"

"Who you supporting for mayor?" was the unexpected reply.

"Why—er—er, Truelsen, of course." So don't go into any union, then, I'm with Tommy Savard. I favor Mitchell. If you and I organize, we do so on condition that Mitchell is elected and that you take off your blue jumpers, and work for him. What do you say?"

The poor fellow was sorrowful. He was a strong Truelsen shouter, but he thought a heap of Samantha. Like Adam of old, he took the tempting fruit—and, it is feared, lost his paradise.

"Do you mean it?" he asked in trembling tones.

"I mean it," said Samantha, as she scratched some German fried potatoes off the sleeve of her dress.

"Well, I'll agree to organize on those terms," replied the local Gompers.

So he went at it. He labored early and late and really turned some votes from Truelsen to Mitchell. He had big stakes up and he played every trump. But on election day the poor fellow had only a bob-tailed whiff, while the voters of Duluth "called" him and laid down a "full house."

"I've lost!" he cried with accents of despair that rang in the ears of the jubilant Truelsen men for weeks and months.

Gompers, Jr., has gone around like a man doomed to eternal despair ever since. Samantha, too, does not seem satisfied, and it would surprise no one to see her consent to a change in her constitution and by-laws of the proposed union and an organization be effected after all. If so, organized labor should rejoice, for there will be one of the maddest, merriest wedding celebrations known in union circles since the old Fishers' Protective union disbanded.

It is astonishing how alike human nature is the world over, among all classes and conditions and even colors.

On the Chippewa Indian reservation at Grand Portage this winter, looked Grand Marais, the rudely-faced aborigines have had a dancing school in Funny Fellow's tent. A famous medicine man, known as Professor Hoaraw, has had charge, and the attendance has been quite large and general. As the result of running the class for revenue only, all grades of red people have attended—aristocratic blue-blooded full-bloods; half-breeds, quarter-breeds and even French habitants and Scandinavian fishermen. Some have really attended for the purpose of learning to dance; others simply to show off steps they learned under other medicine men on other reservations; still others have put in a night a week because it was cheaper than going to a regular pow-wow, where much wampum and bright regalia would be required. Then a few must be confessed, go because in those dances (especially in those where they hop around in a circle together) it is easy to embrace fair Minnehahas whom it would be impossible to embrace in a parlor seated on a comfortable sofa.

To these dances has come a maiden tall and somewhat fair, called Biting Icicle. She has ignored all but the aristocratic blue-blooded, full-blooded braves and gone through the corn dance, the dog dance, the war dance and the hoop like Klondike jump solely with them. Even then she has been a barbed arrow in their sides, for she has assumed that they rarely do a dance right and that she alone has knowledge of what is correct and proper.

"Now, don't hold that way; hold me this way," exclaims Biting Icicle, as some spry brave starts to encircle her waist.

"That's not the way to take the step, this is the way," she snaps out when she fails to keep time with her partner.

"Miss Biting Icicle, will you dance this roundly-round with me?" asks Young-Man-Afraid-of-the-Snow.

"Now," he replies Biting Icicle. "I'm not going to jump this time. You young fellows have pulled and hauled me around until I'm tired."

A minute after the poor fellow sneaks away. Young Much Money asks Biting Icicle to dance.

"Certainly," she replies with a smile that looks like wild honey and wild goose of melted together.

"Are you going to the canoe paddlers' ball?" she asks Big Chief High Collar.

"Yes," he replies. "Biting-Icicle wants to go too, but none of the braves ask her."

"Dear me," she says: "I do so want to go to that, but no one has asked me. I never do get to go," anything really want to go to." Then she sighs and looks amiable and bewitching. But Chief High Collar is not easily bewitched. Biting-Icicle leaves the warm tepid to enable herself to freeze up a little and to keep her curls from melting down.

Big Chief High Collar grins at little Biting-Icicle and says: "A hint is as good as a kick." Then he goes

STRUCK BY A CAR.

Professor Munyon Cures a Remarkable Case of Epilepsy.

Mrs. Tilden, 14 Bluth Street, Cleveland, O., says: "Four years ago I was struck by a street car and severely injured. My trouble developed into a bad case of epilepsy, and since that time I have been in a most wretched condition. I felt as though I were walking on a tight rope, and I was paralyzed; my limbs seemed to weigh a ton—no feeling in them. I was morose and miserable, afraid to be alone, and they thought I was going to die."

My wife was all unstrung; I could not walk across the floor, and in going upstairs I had to stop almost every step. It seemed as if I were walking on air and would have to fall over. I was attacked with this about once a week, and times I would fall on the street. It was impossible for me to be subject to violent nervous spells. I also was subject to illusions; that somebody was going to kill me, that I was going to jump out of the window, and other things had occurred with the best physicians, and to the last one I paid about $100, but got no relief. He said he did not think I would ever get better. As a last resort, I tried Munyon's physicians, and was told that I could be cured. That was about two months ago. Since then I have not had a nervous spell. I can sleep well, have no more illusions, and with the exception of a slight pain in the back, am as well as I ever was in my life. I have a separate cure for Munyon puts up a separate cure for each disease. At all druggists, mostly 25 cents a vial. Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 1508 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.

and asks Smiling-Curls to go to the Canoe Paddlers' dance, and she says yes.

Biting-Icicle goes to her tepee, gloomy, unhappy and sour at heart. She wonders what makes all the big braves so unappreciative and regardless of her existence. Poor Indian maiden. She has no magic mirror in which to look when she braids her dusky locks and arranges her blanket across her shoulders.

Grand Portage Indian reservation? Of course that's where this story comes from. Indians are just like white folks, in many ways, I stated in the beginning.

A whole lot of people in Duluth rejoice to see the chamber of commerce waking up and casting about for ways and means in which to stand any for Duluth. It gives them heart and hope for the future, as well as reaches the past when every man was pushing on the wheels with hands and purse for the upbuilding of the Zenith City. It is a source of grief and regret to many people in Duluth not only that so many have lost their all here during the dark days of depression, but that they have lost heart and hope as well, and now sit with hands tightly folded and relinquish themselves to dark despair. There are people here who understand and appreciate Duluth's future. They believe there is a bright future ahead of them, and that a morning star will appear from behind the clouds. The gods help them to help themselves, and those possessing faith in Duluth think the time is hard at hand for making some further effort. This favored town was settled in boom days by all sorts of people, good, bad and indifferent. As a result, they have run through the mill, and eventually the town will benefit greatly. The good is many times more than the bad. It is a town that has lost ground—success will be theirs. The bad will be swept away, and the vacant places filled with new blood. Duluth needs new blood. That means new men with hopes and ambitions, and the vacant places filled with new blood, new methods, new enterprises, and a new spirit. The wheels cannot be set in motion by the chamber of commerce and other affiliated commercial bodies.

Through My Nose Freely, Like I Used To.

Now that a patient said to the reporter the other day while consulting him, in this is what hundreds of patients are saying to Dr. Hartman every year. This means that the patient may be cured; but none the less surely nasal catarrh, nasal catarrh of the head, producing roaring, deafness and watery eyes. Catarrh of the head soon becomes catarrh of the throat, producing hoarseness, difficulty swallowing. Catarrh of the throat soon becomes catarrh of the bronchial tubes and lungs, or perhaps follows the oesophagus to the stomach, producing peptic ulcer, liver complaint, if nasal catarrh is allowed to go unchecked, the catarrh will sooner or later attack other organs of the body. Mrs. Mary Allen, Southall, Tenn., writes: "I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach. I had three physicians who could not cure me. You don't know how thankful I feel. Pe-ru-na cured me entirely."

Every woman should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's book entitled "Health and Beauty." Sent free to women only by the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ohio.

AFRAID OF LYNCHING.

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 7.—The beginning of the fourth week of the cotton mill operatives' strike showed nothing but the same apparent determination on both sides to stick to their respective positions until the other yields. Secretary Cummings of the joint strike committee has issued a statement saying that the total amount of money received up to Saturday, Feb. 5, at 9 a. m., was $1245.

"In looking over the amounts received from outside sources," says Secretary

CONDITION AT BIDEFORD.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 7.—The arbitration committee of the board of trade have as yet made no progress in the proposed efforts to remedy the strike situation here. A communication has been sent by the committee to the mill management and the operatives, expressing the willingness of the committee to try to open negotiations between the mill management and the operatives, if the strikers so desire. No answer to the communication has yet been received. The three corporations still remain shut down.

He had $500 on his person which was left undisturbed.

AFRAID OF LYNCHING.

ZOLA IS ON TRIAL

French Court Is Trying Him For His Efforts to Clear Dreyfus.

NOISY COURT ROOM

Government Takes Unusual Steps to Prevent Any Signs of Disorder.

Paris, Feb. 7.—The trial of M. Emile Zola, who is being prosecuted by the government as a result of the letter which he wrote last December to the Aurora strongly expressing upon the official record in the court of the Seine. The keenest public interest was manifested in the case. Hundreds of people surrounded the court anxious to gain admittance. The police measures taken to insure order were most rigorous.

The arrival of H. Rochefort, and counter cries of "A bas Rochefort." Turning in the direction of the hostile cries, M. Rochefort shouted: "It would seem that with four of you at five francs apiece the Dreyfus syndicate will not be ruined."

M. Zola, who arrived in a carriage shortly afterwards, was greeted with vehement shouts of "Conspuez Zola" (spit upon Zola).

An individual who shouted "Vive Zola," was promptly hustled and suppressed. The proceedings commenced at 1 p. m. under the presidency of M. Delagrèze, who announced that the court would be cleared if there was any demonstration. Although the court was thronged, quiet was maintained owing to the knowledge that a company of republican guards had been ordered to the disposal of the judge to preserve order. While the jury was being selected, M. Zola took the opportunity to make a few cries of "Vive Zola" were promptly suppressed.

After the reading of the indictment, the advocate general explained that the charge was strictly limited to the passage in Zola's letter denouncing the court-martial.

Continuing, the advocate general said it was imperative to prevent the proceedings from wandering and thus playing into the hands of the accused, whose aim is to get a revision of the Dreyfus affair by a circuitous route.

The court decided to allow the accused to call evidence in support of the other charges contained in his letter, including the accusations which he made against Col. Paty Ducram and Gen. Mercier, Boisjoffre, Billot and Pellieux.

M. De Lagorue read a number of letters of excuse, including one from the minister of justice, M. Dorian, announcing that the minister for war, Gen. Billot, had received authority to testify.

M. Labore urged the importance of his testimony, adding that unless the court ordered the witness to testify he might be compelled to demand an adjournment until the next sessions. Counsel also said he was not prepared to oppose a secret trial if it was absolutely necessary. But, continued M. Labore, the declaration that the matter was being discussed was connected with state secrets and the national defense was a mere joke.

The advocate general thereupon protested against the national defense being called a joke, to which M. Labore hotly replied that he would permit no one, not even the advocate general, to cast suspicion upon his patriotism. The hearing of the case was adjourned at 5 p. m. There were no sensational incidents.

THE CUBAN WAR.

No Additional Instructions Sent to Minister Woodford.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Inquiry at the state department develops the fact that no additional instructions under which the war in Cuba have been sent to Minister Woodford. It is not believed that there will be any steps of great importance in the negotiations or that Senator Sagasta has made an important communication in answer to Minister Woodford, else the latter would have cabled the fact to the state department, and so far, it is said, nothing has been received.

RIVER STEAMER SOLD.

St. Louis, Feb. 7.—The property of the Anchor line which recently failed was put on sale at Cairo, Ill., today by the United States marshal. The steamer Hill City was sold to Capt. Thomas R. Sims, of St. Louis, for $25,160. The appraised value of the vessel was $22,000. It is generally understood that Capt. Sims purchased the boat in the interests of the Tennessee River Packet company.

KENTUCKY HORSE SALES.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 7.—The winter sales of the large horses began today. A large crowd is here. Prices averaged about $400.

WILL NAME DEPUTIES.

The Senators Still Dispensing All the Patronage.

Washington, Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota senators are still continuing their plan of bagging all the Minnesota patronage with the exception of fourth-class postmasters. The date they have grabbed everything, and now they are decided to take away from the congressmen interested in the appointment of the deputies under Peterson, the new collector at St. Paul.

FIGHT AGAINST TAWNEY.

Not Likely to Amount to Anything Serious.

Washington, Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is not believed here that the fight to be made against Congressman Tawney by Republican bolters in the First district will amount to anything. He will be nominated, but the row that is now on is liable to injure Senator Davis' chances for re-election. The men who are leading the anti-Tawney men are strong Tawney supporters. In consequence, Tawney may find it necessary to fight Davis. At least this is the opinion of well-posted Minnesotans here.

NELSON KEEPING OUT.

Will Not Meddle With State Politics at Present.

Washington, Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Nelson is determined to keep out of local politics in Minnesota, and is especially determined not to become mixed up in the fight over the gubernatorial nomination. Some time before his departure with the members of the commerce committee to examine the Lower Mississippi river he received a letter from a gubernatorial aspirant in Northern Minnesota inquiring if he could count on his support if he entered the race for the nomination and this alone.

Although Nelson is understood to be under great obligations to this politician, he has not yet answered his inquiry. This gubernatorial candidate is either Collins or Constock, but the Minnesota congressman refuses to say.

It is stated by the member that a canvass of the delegation shows but one member who is supporting Clough in his effort to nominate Van Sant.

ATLANTIC CITY SCORCHED.

Several Buildings Destroyed in an Early Morning Blaze.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 7.—A fire which originated in the Academy of Music this morning destroyed a half block of buildings, entailing a loss of about $25,000 before being got under control. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Officer Robinson discovered smoke issuing from under the board walk in front of the Academy of Music. A general alarm was sent in, but before the fire was extinguished the Academy of Music was enveloped in flames.

The fire spread to Lape's confectionery store, which was communicated to the rear of the Bryn Mawr hotel. The flames quickly spread to Bacharach's furniture store, Fattner's school of phrenology, Myers' photo gallery, the Gold Mine bath houses, Smith rolling chairs, and the portion of the Vitaseopie parlors on the board walk.

For a time it looked as though the Berkeley hotel, the largest hotel on the Atlantic city, would be destroyed by the flames that it will have to be rebuilt. The heaviest losses were suffered by the Academy of Music, which is insured by the Mutual Life Insurance company, owned by J. Frainger. Lape's confectionery store, $50,000. Gold Mine bath houses, $20,000. Insurance small, owned by J. Frainger. Lape's confectionery store, $50,000. Gold Mine bath houses, $20,000. Insurance small, owned by J. Frainger. Lape's confectionery store, $50,000. Gold Mine bath houses, $20,000. Insurance small, owned by J. Frainger.

Owing to the fact that the property destroyed was all beach front property, the fire is very little insurance. The companies refusing to take the risks except at very high rates. The Academy of Music was also destroyed by fire in 1913.

AHEAD OF TIME.

Northwestern's Fast Train Ahead of Its Schedule.

Boone, Iowa, Feb. 7.—The Union Pacific and Northwestern "Chicago special" from Denver reached Boone, the Northwestern headquarters, at 11:30 three minutes ahead of time. A large party of town newspaper men are on board, as guests of the Chicago & Northwestern company, which is represented by the following: C. A. Cairns, assistant general manager; John Johnson, superintendent of dining car service; J. K. Gable, traveling passenger agent; R. H. Ashton, division superintendent; and W. O. Lallen, assistant division superintendent. Samuel Hutchinson, assistant general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, accompanied the party to Chicago. Northwestern men from Denver to Chicago, who were committed to the train, were scheduled to arrive at Boone, in reply to a question that in his opinion the train could be reduced an hour and a half, if desired, and another hour could be saved by using fast cars.

LORD NEVILLE'S TRIAL.

London, Feb. 7.—The recorder, Sir Charles Hall, addressing a grand jury in the case of Lord William Neville, fourth son of the marquis of Abercromby, who was committed to the Tower of London, charged with fraud in connection with the suit of Samuel Lewis against Lord Neville, said today, in reply to a question that in his opinion the trial of Lord Neville should be continued for a week or two, that it would be his duty to find a true bill against him.

FIRE WAS SUBSIDED.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The fire which threatened last night to destroy the business portion of Albany, was subdued after hours of hard fighting, and the flames confined to David Specker's block. The loss was less than $25,000, well insured.

LATTIMER SHOOTING

Judge Woodward Takes Occasion to Warn and Denounce Papers.

MAY EXCLUDE THEM

Testimony Against Sheriff Martin's Crowd.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 7.—Hundreds of persons, anxious to hear what action Judge Woodward would take in reference to the sensational outbreak on Saturday between Attorney Garman and Lennahan, opposing counsel in the Lattimer shooting case, thronged the court room today.

Judge Woodward spoke of the incident of Saturday, saying that after he had left the bench and before court adjourned an altercation had arisen between two of the lawyers engaged in the trial, which the court did not fully hear nor realize the words used until they saw it in the newspapers. And we heard," said the judge, "what was said, we should have dealt with the lawyers in as summary a manner as the affair deserved, and if there is a repetition of this kind of conduct on the part of the representatives of the papers we will find the doors of the court closed to them."

The first witness today was Silas Jones, justice of the peace of West Hazleton. He stated that he had seen the meeting of deputies and strikers at West Hazleton and followed the deputies to Lattimer. He saw Sheriff Martin advance toward them with a whip in his hand. Some of them surrounded him and an altercation occurred, but the witness could not see exactly how the altercation commenced or how it terminated. He heard a couple of shots, and then a volley, and saw several men fall. Two who fell near him were dead. He was asked what the spectators said after the shooting. The defense objected.

After listening to all the arguments the court sustained the objection, thus shutting out the evidence. This is regarded as an important point for the defense.

Just before the noon adjournment the court accepted bail for all the accused deputies and the sheriff in the amount of $5000 in each case, making $302,000 in all. Bail was furnished by the Philadelphia Surety company.

BATTLESHIP MAINE.

Some Smaller Vessels Will Be Sent to New Orleans.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The battleship Maine is not to go to New Orleans during Mardi Gras, as has been reported. Secretary Long has been arranged for a program for the participation of some of the warships in the season's festivities in the South and has assigned some of the smaller craft to the work, deeming them much better adapted for such service than the big and unwieldy battleships.

According to an order sent today to the commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic squadron, Admiral Sigsbee, at Tortugas, he will send either the Detroit or Marblehead cruizers to New Orleans. The Texas, second class battleship, or a Wachuset gunboat, is to go to Galveston, Texas, and one of the torpedo boats is to go to the other places named in company with the larger craft. The admiral is left to select the most suitable and available of transports named.

VALUABLE PUBLIC POSSESSIONS.

There recently appeared in an English publication a striking article describing the "market" value of London. Mansion house, which cost $70,000 to build, says the writer, is now valued at fully ten times that figure. The Royal Exchange, as a building of bricks and mortar, is worth $200,000; but land in that neighborhood has recently sold at the rate of $100,000 an acre, so that $2,000,000 is probably not an excessive valuation for the Exchange.

Eight bridges over the Thames cost $5,000,000 to build, but are now worth much more than that, while the tunnels underneath are worth other millions, and the Embankment is worth probably double the $2,000,000 which it cost to make. "If St. Paul's were private property, you might induce the owner to sell it for $10,000,000, but the likelihood is very remote. Those tattered banners which you have seen so often would arouse pretty keen bidding at the sales. Westminster Abbey is worth $10,000,000, but the sales agent as some idea what historic treasures are worth in the market, and I should not be surprised if the Abbey—put up in lots—realized $50,000,000.

The British Museum, which anybody could see for nothing, $250,000 to build, and has one picture which cost $14 an inch." The Nelson column close by is worth $50,000, and the statue of King George III, a little way down Pall Mall, cost $4000. The Albert Hall and Royal Aquarium are both worth about $200,000, but the Crystal Palace cost more than three times the value of both of these. Earl's Court, the great show rivaling the palace, has millions worth of treasures, which you see for one shilling, and even when it is empty the twenty-five acres of gardens and buildings are worth $200,000. Imagine buying the Tower; the Holborn viaduct; the miles of sewers, walls and pavements; the various markets, of which four—which are for cattle—actually cost $10,000,000 between them. Think of the hospitals and schools and churches; and fancy the market value of the parks cut into city lots. The entrances alone of Hyde Park are said to have cost nearly $1,500,000.

The Boston Transcript, commenting on these figures, says: "The interest in such an exposition of city worth is in its mingling of novelty and pertinence. For here is the seldom put other side of the constant grumble about taxes. Citizenship is apt to dwell too much on the debit side of its account with the city; it is all the time gazing at, adding and complaining about, the items which it must pay to the city; and if occasionally approving of the income, in well lighted and clean streets good water, protection from crime and fire, yet it almost never casts its eyes down its splendid and imposing list of assets. The article enables us to take

London as an example, Westcott into the passing years there have rolled up accumulated evidences of more or less wise expenditure, until the heritage of the modern resident or visitor is a list of incalculable treasures from the past, possessions which all the money in the world cannot buy.

"The things which a man can shut behind his own walls, to keep secretly for himself as a distinction—how paltry and few they are when compared to the general treasure. It would seem that the so-called poor of a splendid modern city, heirs to the evidences of vast resources, past and present, had small reason to be envious of private fortunes. They are so rich already that the millionaire can only put in his library books which they have long had at their command; in his gallery pictures as better and probably not half so good, certainly not so many, as the pictures which all possess in common; and the private garden of the capitalist, if he can have one, is a delightfully small plot beside the vast park average of the city. The poor man of the city, if he is poor enough, finds the city's vast wealth free to him; while the neighbors whom he envies meet the expenses of maintenance."

A GREAT BONANZA.

The story of the great profits earned by the Duluth, Missoula & Northern coast, which is told in another column, shows that Mr. Rockefeller has in this property one of the best investments he has ever made. It is better than a mine in the Klondike. For the year ending Dec. 31, 1897, the gross earnings were $2,000,000, and the net profit for the year was $1,055,308, which must certainly be regarded as a handsome return on the amount of stock issued, the face value of which is only $2,512,500. Is there another line of railroad in America, or in the world, which pays so well?

"made you retire? You have marched upon them with the lyre and the sword! Alone against millions! Is there a nobler scene on earth? It is what France required." Zola's trial begins today, and it promises to be a notable event, and it is not unlikely that more rioting will attend its progress.

Nathan Strauss, the new president of the New York health department, has some philanthropic hobbies, among which is the delivery of sterilized milk among the poor. He says proper food for children in summer would reduce the death rate among children to that among adults, which would save many thousands of lives. There is no doubt that this claim is correct. Impure milk kills thousands of children yearly.

CROWDED TRAILS

The World with a Fence around it, but we do claim that

Total Capacity of the Two Routes to Klondike Is About 30,000.

Will Be Blockade

As Twice That Number, at Least, Will Try to Get In.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 7.—George A. Brackett, builder and principal owner of the Skagway wagon road, says the trails leading from Lynn canal over the mountain range barrier, will not be able to accommodate the rush to the Yukon. He can see in the City of Seattle, having completed the highway, which will be normally dedicated to the public Feb. 15.

The greatest capacity of the two routes, Mr. Brackett says, is 20,000. He thinks it possible that that number of outfitted men to get in, but that fully twice the number will make the effort. If his figures approach anything like correctness, another blockade, but far more disastrous than that of the summer and fall of 1897, will result.

At Taiyeh and Skagway settlements approaching municipal proportions and being established, Skagway, according to the estimates of conservative men who came on the City of Seattle, now numbers from 600 to 700 persons. One vessel recently in, returning from the North, passed fifteen water craft wending their way to Lynn canal.

Japanese in Klondike.

Six Thousand of the Mikado's People In Route.

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The Call says: Japan is going to invade the Klondike. A landing army of 5000 able-bodied laborers are being got together for the gold fields, and in a month or so they will make a descent upon Dawson City.

One of the Nippon Yulon Kaisha steamers will bring them here, but as they will not land on the soil of the United States there will be no one to say they are not there. They will take a hand in the matter.

One of the Japanese steamers that has been carrying laborers will be used to carry them to their destination. It is added that the Japanese will be brought over by a syndicate, and trouble in the Klondike is predicted.

HAS ISSUED NOTICES.

Objectors in Tax Cases Ordered to Show Cause.

Notices were issued this morning to all of the property-owners who dispute the payment of their real estate taxes for the year 1937, which became due on Jan. 1, 1938, that County Attorney Arthur would move the court in to decide Thursday morning for the showing of cause against all of them for the amount claimed by the state tax assessors. There were about 325 of these cases, and on the issues that were sent to the circuit court and decided by the tribunal recently all of them by stipulation were to abide by the result of the decision. The issues in this case, it will be remembered, were whether the fact that the non-payment of taxes was an unfairly low rate entitled them to a reduction of their taxes, and whether it was proper for the school board to make its own tax levy. Both of these issues were decided against the objectors, and the district court was ordered to enter judgment. Some of the defendants, however, had other issues separate from these, and it was difficult to tell how these cases could be settled without wading through all the 325 pleadings. County Attorney Arthur and Judge Moore this morning thought that was an unnecessary task, and they by their order directed the notices to the defendants to show cause why the judgments should not be enforced.

The Municipal Court.

The municipal court calendar was called this morning. There were three cases set for trial in the following order:
P. Johnson vs. town of Herman; H.
Hobbs vs. Duluth; Duluth Street
Railway company; A. Longlo vs. P. Tivello; B.
Ston vs. W. St. Amour; Frank Winjama vs. Duluth Street Railway company; Elizabeth Pikey vs. Frank
A. Bassett. The assignment of court cases is as follows: Feb. 8—Culhahy Lumber company vs. A. Kito; Feb. 15
—John Marshall et al. vs. A. Kropack;
Feb. 15—Frank Hansen vs. M. J.
Dahlsten.

Visiting the Range.

A party of coal men from Greensburg, Pa., are in the city today on a visit to the spalling. They are J. N. Crawford,
M. Byers, E. M. Gross, H. Coulter, Jr., George F. Huff and A. O. Hays. They passed through the city Saturday morning and spent Saturday and Sunday in visiting the mines on the Mesabi range, returning to Duluth last night.
They are accompanied by J. W. Shilling, superintendent of the Duluth district, and one of the principal owners of the Mesabi. The object of the visit is to learn something of the condition of the coal business in the Northwest. They will leave for the East this evening.

The Great Scalchi Coming.

The appearance here of Mme. Sofia Scalchi together with her associates on Friday night at the Lyceum theater marks the event of the season. Scal-chi is without doubt the greatest artist in her line in the world today, she has had twice the experience of any living artist, not because she has lived so long,
but because she has had the greatest number of steady engagements which kept her continually before the public.
Entertainment given by the Scalchi company consists of a grand miscellaneous program in which all the latest and some of the newest and best operatic arias, songs, etc., and the second part of the entertainment will be devoted to presenting grand opera in a perfect manner as possible.
The fourth act of Verdi's popular favorite
"Il Trovatore" will be given with Scal-chi in her famous role of Azucena, the singer. The Leonora will be Miss Toul-inquet.

To Consider Insurance.

The district commissioners were to hold an adjourned meeting this afternoon to consider the matter of renewing the insurance on No. 19 fire hall, at New Duluth, and to discuss the question of purchasing new mattresses and beds for the West Duluth fire hall.
Secretary Trosden of the board will send a communication to the council requesting permission to print fifty copies of the 1936 report. The council, thus far, has refused to allow the commissioners to print any copies of their report for the year named.
The cost of maintenance of the fire department for January was $900.58, of which $570.46 was for salaries.

SUDDEN SUMMONS

W. H. Hubbard Dropped Dead
at Ministerial Association Meeting This Morning.

WEAKNESS OF HEART

Was Reading a Paper Before the Ministers—Medical Efforts Useless.

W. H. Hubbard, of 205 East Third street, was overtaken by death this forenoon while attending a meeting of the ministerial association at the Y. M. C.
A. rooms. The cause was pronounced by the physician called to be heart disease.
Mr. Hubbard was reading a paper before the association on Hall Calne's
"Christianity." At a few minutes after 11 o'clock Mr. Hubbard, after a few introductory remarks, began his reading. He had proceeded but a short distance when he complained of not feeling well, and requested Rev. Dr. Ryan to finish the reading when Mr. Hubbard had taken his seat, fell from his chair to the floor unconscious. A call for medical aid was sent out, and in response Drs. Eklund, Robinson, Collins and Stewart arrived at the scene within a very few moments.

Mr. Hubbard sank steadily despite their united efforts, and at 11:45, about twenty-five minutes after his seizure, he was pronounced dead. Undertaker Stewart took charge of the remains and conveyed them to the residence.
The deceased was about 61 years of age, and was an old and prominent resident of Duluth. He was formerly secretary of the Stone Iron company, and company as vice president and treasurer.
Of late he has been engaged in the merchandise brokerage business with Jesse Norton. He leaves two daughters, Mrs.
C. E. De Witt and Miss Sadie Hubbard.
His wife died several years ago.

Mr. Hubbard was a man of clean lifestyle, of a genial social nature, and possessing a high degree of literary culture.
He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which he had been a vestry-man. At the time of his death he was secretary of St. Luke's Episcopal church.
As soon as Mr. Hubbard's death was announced, a committee, appointed for that purpose, consisting of Rev. R. H.
Patrick, drew up and reported the following resolutions, which were adopted:
Whereas, it hath pleased God, in whose hands are our life and all things, in the very twinkling of an eye, to take to Himself our excellent friend and brother, while making an eloquent address to the Duluth Ministerial association, therefore

Resolved, first, that while we lament the loss of a citizen to intelligent and pure and a Christian, so worthy and useful, we recognize how beautiful and fitting was God's immediate call to him from service to rest from his labors, and make life heaven to a vision of heaven itself.

Resolved, second, that, since the Ministers' association of Duluth received his last and most beautiful earthly service,
the funeral services in a body.

Big Timber Deal.

A large timber deal was filed in the office of the register this afternoon. It consists of a conveyance to Charles H.
Davis, of Saginaw, Mich., all of the standing and down timber on nearly 500 acres of land in this county. The consideration for the transfer is $27,450, and the purchaser agrees to cut all of the timber within twenty years and to pay the taxes on the land while the timber is being cut. The land consists of twenty-seven 40-acre tracts in sections 5, 6, 10, 11, 17, 20, 29 and 35, and five government lots in sections 19, 21 and 22
all in 58-20; twenty-four 40-acre tracts and one government lot in sections 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 21, 22, 23, 24, 27, 28, 32, 33
and 35, 58-20.

Apello Chorus Coming.

One of the greatest musical entertainments ever given Duluth people has been arranged for to be given at the First Methodist church on Washington's Thursday night. The Apello Male chorus will give a patriotic concert. There are sixty members and the chorus is the leader of the chorus in the city. The concert will be given in the evening at 8 o'clock. The chorus is the leader of the chorus in the city. The concert will be given in the evening at 8 o'clock.

Going to Klondike.

J. A. Cameron, of Houghton, Mich.,
and Arthur Coach, of Hammar, John McIntosh and J. G. Real, of Barab, Mich., passed through Duluth today on their way to the Alaska gold fields.
They have with them seven dogs and are using in parking. They propose to go up the Stewart river on a prospecting expedition. Some of the party are experienced miners and all are well equipped for their undertaking.

Houses, rooms and flats are quickly rented when advertised in The Evening Herald.

PERSONAL TAXES DUE.

Penalty Added If Not Paid This Month.

Now is the time when the people of this county are expected to pay their personal property taxes, and as the last day for paying them without incurring a penalty is Feb. 28, the rush of payments has already begun. Payments so far are rather light, but they are on the increase, and they will continue to increase from now until the last of the month. Many people who have received the postal cards sent out by the county treasurer notifying them of the amount of the tax are just coming in to pay. It is too late to do anything, however, as the only way of getting relief is through the county board and that will not meet until early in March. If one desires to protest, however, he may pay his tax under protest and then bring the matter before the county board at its March meeting, when if the board consents, this surplus tax may be refunded to him.

FILES AN APPEAL.

C. H. Graves Objects to the County Fighting a Tax Title Case.

C. H. Graves this morning served notice upon County Auditor Hadden that he would appeal from the appropriation of $200 made by the county board at its last meeting to pay the legal expenses of taking an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the district court in the tax title case of John Berglund against E. Grace Graves. There has been some comment on this action by the board, and it has been charged that the board was appropriating money to fight the litigation of private parties.
This is the ground of Mr. Graves' intended appeal. County Auditor Hadden was asked to make a motion to the board, and he referred to his letter to the board of county commissioners, which fully explains the county's interest in the case.

The letter states that the district court has decided in a case that the county fleets issued by the auditor are illegal and void, for the reason that the county collector's interest in the case, subsequent to the entry of judgment. The court took the position that it is necessary to reduce each year's taxes to judgment and sale, regardless of the existence of previous judgment and sale. If this position is allowed to obtain it will be necessary for the county to refund a large amount of taxes which have been assessed, and the interest on subsequent taxes, together with additional sums for interest accrued at 10 per cent subsequent to the date of the assignment. Altogether the county stands to lose a large sum of money if the court's decision is allowed to stand.

On this ground County Auditor Hadden urged the board to make an appropriation for the purpose of retaining John Jewell, Jr., to appeal the case, as the point is an important one to the county. It is one that must be settled as soon as possible, and there seems to be no other way to settle it except through this case. County Attorney Arthur and County Auditor Hadden both claim that this is not fighting the legal claims of private interests, but that it is a matter in which the county is vitally interested.

HAS NOTHING TO DO.

Assignee Ordean Therefore Petitions for a Discharge.

A. L. Ordean, who was recently appointed receiver for the property of Alfred Merritt on the petition of the Second National bank of Louisville, Ky.,
this morning asked the court to release him from his position on the plea that there is nothing for him to do. He submits an affidavit in which he states that no property belonging to the defendant has been submitted to him in his official capacity, and that none of Merritt's creditors have asked him to do anything for him.

It appears that Merritt has asked all his indebtedness to the creditors direct, including the claim of the bank on which Mr. Ordean was made receiver, and he therefore wants his discharge. Alfred Merritt also makes an affidavit in which he states that he has settled all of the judgments that he owes.

LEITER'S BIG ELEVATOR.

Young Wheat King to Build the Biggest in America.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 9.—The Journal says upon authority that Joseph Leiter will build in Kansas City during the coming summer an elevator having greater capacity than any elevator now in existence. The plant, it is stated, will be ready to handle next season's crop. The article hints that the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railway will have an interest in the Leiter undertaking.

BYE'S QUEER WHEELS.

Peculiar Case of an Iowa Business Man.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Feb. 9.—The commissioners of insanity issued an order for the commitment of Richard Bye in the insane asylum and he will at once be taken to that institution. Bye was at one time a successful business man on Wall street, but afterwards suffered heavy losses. He came to this city about three years ago and for a time was a fairly successful business man. Today he is in a condition that puzzles the authorities and everybody else who has investigated his case. Possessed of a fine education and of more than ordinary intelligence, Bye remained in bed almost continuously for nearly a year, claiming that he was in the hands of the spirits, who have refused to release him from their power. A man six feet three inches in height and weighing 220 pounds when he went into this trance, he is today only a few pounds lighter and apparently enjoying the best of health.

VON DER AHE'S TROUBLES.

Pittsburg Officials Have a Good Grip on Him.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 9.—The habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Chris Von der Ahe, of St. Louis baseball fame, who was abducted from St. Louis by Detective Nicholas Hendel, representing William A. Nimmo, bondsmen for Von der Ahe in the Mark Baldwin suit, was heard before Judge Bullington of the United States district court today. The petition to Judge Bullington declared the whole proceedings concerning his arrest illegal and without authority of law and in violation of the constitution of the United States. In answer, Detective Hendel claimed he had a legal right to execute the warrant anywhere he might find the defendant, and the latter voluntarily entered the carriage at St. Louis, knowing that he was to be taken to Pittsburg. After the argument the court took the papers and placed the prisoner in custody of a United States marshal until he is furnished in the sum of $3000 to abide by the order of the court. It is thought that the attorney in this case, who is the oldest Old Fellow in the go on the bond and that Von der Ahe will be released from custody this afternoon.

DE LOME'S TROUBLES

Spanish Minister Writes a Letter to Canalejas Which Roasts McKinley.

JUNTA SECURES IT

And There Is a Chance That De Lome Will Lose His Post.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The publication of a letter bearing the signature of the Spanish minister, Duque de Lome, addressed to Senor Canalejas, and making severe criticisms on President McKinley, has created a profound impression on official circles, and is expected to bring about important results in the immediate future. The authenticity of the letter cannot be established from any official source, nor is any denial of it given from any quarter.

A strong impression prevails among those most intimately acquainted with the general subject that the letter is genuine in its substantial features, with some inaccuracies in translation, possibly through design, by which the strictures on the president are made to appear more offensive than a strictly literal translation would show. It is equally certain that the letter was of a personal and confidential character, and for that reason is said to come under a different head than a public communication or one of a diplomatic character.

Little doubt exists in official quarters that if the genuineness of the letter is fully established, it will result in the retirement of the Spanish minister, and his replacement by another minister. Whether the United States government would ask for his recall is in doubt. But the Spanish minister himself, doubtless, would take this opportunity to relieve his government from any embarrassment and would seek relief from his post at Washington.

At the Spanish legation every avenue of inquiry as to the letter is closed. The minister positively declines to be seen concerning the subject. He will neither affirm nor deny the accuracy of the letter as a whole or in part.

The information of the state department is necessarily limited on a communication of this character, as it has not passed through official channels. It is not a communication of the Spanish minister to his government. Being to Senor Canalejas, who is not a member of the Spanish cabinet, although of high standing as an adviser of the government, the letter is said to be far removed from such official communications as come to the attention of the state department.

The circumstances under which a letter of this character could escape from the privacy of the two persons between whom it is passed excites much comment. The general belief is that it was never delivered to Senor Canalejas, but was stolen while on route. Canalejas was in Washington some months ago, and then went to Cuba for the purpose of observing the condition of affairs there. He was a former minister of justice and was accorded a warm reception by Minister Dupuy de Lome, who gave a banquet in his honor, which was attended by a number of prominent public men. He then returned to Cuba, and his mission necessarily brought him into continued correspondence with Minister De Lome.

As the letter bears no date, the time that it was forwarded can only be fixed by its contents. That it was after the president's message is evident. The intention of the author is to embarrass the administration, and it was before the inauguration of the cabinet, Jan. 12, thus placing the letter, according to the prevailing impression as having been written about the middle of December. At that time Senor Canalejas was in Havana, and the handling of the mail is done by the Spanish authorities, so that in this case it is believed the loss of a letter of this character could occur only in one of two ways—either through the treachery of an official of the postal service, or by being taken after it had reached the hotel where Senor Canalejas was stopping.

The effect of the letter on the future of the minister is understood. The services as minister have now extended beyond the three years, and he has been charged throughout the most serious phases of the Cuban complication. When the Conservative ministry was formed last autumn it was generally believed that Premier Sagasta would send a Liberal to succeed De Lome, who is a prominent Conservative, and a former Conservative deputy. He was continued at his post, however, although it was understood at the time that he placed his resignation at the disposal of the Spanish government.

WORK OF CUBAN JUNTA.

Letter of De Lome Was Stolen from Senor Canalejas.

New York, Feb. 9.—Representatives of the Cuban Junta have given out copies of a letter signed "Enrique Duque de Lome," who is minister of Spain at Washington, and addressed to Jose Canalejas, who went to Cuba last September as Premier Sagasta's personal representative. In this letter the Spanish minister refers to President McKinley as "weak and catering to the rabble," and as a low politician who desires to stand well with the jingoes of his party.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Press says that when a copy of the letter was shown to Mr. De Lome he pronounced it a forgery. He also says that an official of the state department discussing the matter said: "De Lome did not write the letter. The Cuban Junta has been imposed upon by somebody."

On the other hand, Horatio L. Hubbs, counsel for the Cuban Junta, says: "We know absolutely that the letter is genuine. A man risked his life to deliver it until he is black in the face, but it is genuine and everybody who has seen it knows it is. The man who stole it abstracted it from the envelope and left the latter. If he had attempted to steal the envelope or had stolen the envelope, he would never have got away with the letter." Mr. Hubbs was asked about the translation and if there was not some danger that it might be wrong. He replied: "No, the translation was made in the office by men who thoroughly understand both languages, and it is as near correct as a translation can be. Where is the letter now?" he was asked. "That I decline to answer."

DULUTH A SUBPORT.

Bill For Consolidation of Customs Districts Prepared By Secretary Gage.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald).—The secretary of the treasury today submitted to congress the draft of a bill for consolidation of the customs districts throughout the country, the salaries of the collectors to be graded according to receipts. The state of Minnesota is to be made one district, the Duluth office being put in charge of a deputy collector. Last year the customs collector at Duluth at $8, Paul was $4223, and at Duluth $4500. Under the secretary's bill it is estimated that the compensation of the collector will be $3000.

THE ZOLA FARCE.

French Court Sustains All the Witnesses Who Refuse to Testify.

Paris, Feb. 9.—Despite precautions there was a repetition of the scenes witnessed yesterday when the trial of Emile Zola and Henriaux, who are being prosecuted by the government for denouncing the Esterhazy court-martial, was continued today in the court of the Seine. Gen. Boisdeffre refused emphatically to testify under the plea of professional and state secrecy. M. Deroguez, the presiding judge, censured that M. Deroguez should permit of troops to guard the condition that her evidence be restricted to the Esterhazy case.

Over 200 barristers in their robes gathered at the public entrance and insisted upon the government to instruct the passage, the barristers of troops to quell the disturbance. The intervention of the military was fully received and led to a violent affray. The barristers rushed upon the guards and struck them. One of the young lawyers was arrested, but after quiet had been restored he was released. Gen. Gonz refused to testify, a scene following and the court was closed.

AN INDIAN CLAIM.

Chippewa Indians Want Interest on Money Settlers Should Have Paid.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald).—The Minnesota Chippewas have presented another claim to the Indian office, and their attorney, W. F. Campbell, "This time it is for interest on the money that should have been paid by the settlers on their lands, if congress had not granted an extension of time for payment." It will be recalled that congress passed an act extending the time for payment for all Indian lands for two years, and a bill is now pending to give a further extension of one year. Mr. Campbell claims that the Indians should be paid interest on this money the same as if it had been paid. He claims that the agreement with the Indians requires this, and that the government should pay out this interest to Indians as is done with interest on other trust funds.

The amount of the claim has not been figured up, but it is considerable. If the decision is favorable to Mr. Campbell, it will establish a precedent that will in the end cost the government a considerable sum of money.

A RUSSIAN MOVE.

New Departure Taken in Her Cretan Attitude.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—Much importance is attached to a communication appearing in the Official Messenger, in which Russia, abandoning the candidature of Prince George of Greece for the governorship of the island of Crete, threatens all concerned, declines all responsibility for the consequences of further dragging the question, and says Russia will not allow any increase in the number of Turkish troops in Crete or be a party to any coercion of the Cretans.

BARRIOS ASSASSINATED.

Report That Guatemala's President Has Been Killed.

San Francisco, Feb. 9.—A special to the Evening Post from San Jose, Guatemala, this morning announced the assassination of President Barrios. It was added that calm now prevails.

A LOUISVILLE MURDER. Louisville, Ky., Feb. 9.—John Schofield shot and instantly killed Peter Moffat last night at the latter's home, 759 Twenty-seventh street. ### THE BARRIOS MURDER.

Manuel Estrada Cabrera Installed as His Successor.

(Washington, Feb. 10.—The official confirmation of the assassination of President Barrios came today to the state department in the following telegram from Minister Hunter at Guatemala: "President Barrios was shot and instantly killed last night at 8 o'clock while walking with two military officers near the palace. The assassin, who attempted to escape, was immediately killed by the president's staff. Manuel Estrada Cabrera, temporarily the constitutional successor, has been peacefully installed. All quiet."

LUETGERT IS EXCITED.

Says the Jury Rendered a Coward's Verdict.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—"That jury was a pack of cowards," said Adolph Luetgert at the county jail today. The big sausage maker showed some anger as he spoke. "If they had been men of nerve and character," continued Luetgert, "there would have been no compromise verdict. They did not decide the case on the law and evidence. They simply compromised. I am either guilty or I am innocent. If I am guilty I deserve death; they ought to hang me as high as Gildersleeve's kite. If I am innocent I am entitled to my liberty. There should have been no half-way verdict in this case. It is said that I laughed last night when the verdict was read. That is true. I did laugh. I have laughed again. I laughed because the verdict to me is a ridiculous farce. It is a coward's verdict. They did not have the nerve to find me not guilty when they saw the evidence did not prove my guilt; they compromised. The case will go to the supreme court. Eventually I will be free."

Attorney Harmon, counsel for Luetgert, appeared before Judge Gary this afternoon and asked for thirty days' time in which to file his motion for a new trial. Mr. Harmon declared that he had received information today to the effect that Mrs. Luetgert still lived. He also intimated that some of the jurymen should have been disqualified. Judge Gary allowed the defense until Feb. 15 to prepare its motion. Mr. Harmon will attempt to secure affidavits to the effect that two of the jurors expressed an opinion on the case before being called for examination. He will seek to substantiate these charges of perjury and thus secure another chance for his client.

placed mostly with W. G. McKandless

& Co. of this city.

It was just 7:30 o'clock last evening when smoke was seen issuing from the fourth floor of the Union Storage company's building on Pike street, near Thirteenth street. The building was six stories in height and occupied almost entirely by the Union Storage company. The building was a local office of the Union Storage company. The second floor contained the stables of the Chautauqua company and in the twelfth street, and they had their ice-making plant, which occupied the three first floors. This was filled with valuable ice-making machinery and other property of the Chautauqua company.

The balance of the building was occupied by the storage company.

Immediately upon the discovery of the fire, an alarm was sent in, and was responded to promptly, but owing to the construction of the building, it was practically impossible to fight the fire from without, while the volume of smoke inside the particular division in which the fire occurred made it impossible to fight it from within. The only opening in the three fire walls dividing the great buildings was closed by heavy iron doors, and these were locked.

For three hours, the firemen worked scarcely knowing what they were doing.

The fire shutters were impractionable to their attacks. The smoke that found its way out of the building, filled

Mulberry alley and Pike street, stifling

the firemen and rendering them practically sightless. It would clear for a moment or two and they would again

maneuver to make some headway, but to no avail. Finally at 11 o'clock the roof and shot upwards of 100 feet in the air, making that part of the alley as light as day.

This was the first note of alarm that started the flight of residents from the houses on Pike, Thirteenth and Twelfth streets. Women and children started for the fireproofed and in stantly followed by their husbands,

nurses, followed by their husbands, hearing what little they could carry in their arms of their household effects. The police were watchful, and the crowds were kept back by the lines and the fearful heat of the flames.

Suddenly above the roar of the flames and the puffing of the fire engines,

which were everywhere, came the more powerful noise of the first explosion.

The din of falling walls, the roar of destruction and death in hundreds of tones. Those within the fire lines were soon to fall in all directions. Those out side the lines were not without the reach of danger. The great puff of air created by the explosion, which made everything sway and shake.

Those not knocked down by the first awful blast started to run, and were knocked down by the reactionary waves of air, as the falling walls created a vacuum that seemed to draw in everything.

It was on the Mulberry alley side

where the least danger was anticipated.

The greatest volume of smoke and preliminary outbursts of flames came out on the Pike street side, the force of the explosion was the most severe,

and there the greatest number of buildings were destroyed. The fact that the falling walls crushed in the rear of buildings having fronts on the street, was the cause of the disaster.

The side of the Mulberry building,

on Pike street, was also crushed in, and entry made for the rear of the warehouse the most terrible effect of the explosion was manifest. The entire front of the building was blown away, and the explosion followed for

CYCLERS' MEETING

National League of American Wheelmen in Full Blast at St. Louis.

MUCH WORK DONE

Racing Board Enacts a Number of New and Strict Rules.

St. Louis, Feb. 10.—The corridors of the Southern hotel where the national assembly of the L. A. W. is holding its sessions presented the aspect of a national political convention. The numerous state delegations have been holding meetings and caucuses for their respective candidates ever since their arrival. While Isaac B. Potter, the national president of the L. A. W. is in the lead, some adherents of his only opponent, George D. Gideon, of Pennsylvania, ex-chairman of the racing board, say their favorite may surprise him with his strength when the time for balloting begins.

President Potter's supporters are in the lead, but the convention with more than enough votes to elect him. The action of the Pennsylvania delegation last evening precludes the possibility of support from that direction for Gideon.

Just before the assembly convened, the Illinois delegation was, as one of the delegates expressed it, "between the devil and the deep sea, and held a caucus to decide which candidate to support. The delegates unanimously decided to cast their fourteen votes for Gideon and stand by him throughout.

The business session of the national assembly was called to order at 10:45 a. m. by President Potter and immediately the roll was immediately proceeded with. It showed that 307 delegates were present in person or by proxy. The delegates numbered 140. The report of President Potter and the other officers of the league were presented and previously prepared and printed, as well as the reports of the various standing committees were passed without reading.

The report of President Isaac B. Potter primarily dealt with the progress of the good roads movement, in the league, he then called attention to the fact that the league has been successful in securing the passage of laws requiring bicycles to be carried as baggage, without extra charge, and in the sending of the league's delegates of Kentucky, Virginia and Maryland for the same purpose. This policy on the part of the league has been successful in securing the passage of laws requiring bicycles to be carried as baggage, without extra charge, and in the sending of the league's delegates of Kentucky, Virginia and Maryland for the same purpose.

ORIENTAL MATTERS

British Still Have Charge of the Korean Customs—Chinese Gossip.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 10.—The Kōkum Shinbun, a Japanese paper, states that on Jan. 25 a quarrel took place between a member of the staff of the German legation in Tokyo and a petty officer on the British steamship Olympia in Yoshi Wara. They came to blows. The German got the worst of the fight.

Oriental affairs brought by the steamer Empress of Japan state that with the arrival of the reinforcements to the German squadron at Kiau Chou, the German force will number about 4200 men. There is some disturbance at Chefoo. Some disaffected soldiers from Kiau Chou have been plundering in the surrounding country. At Port Arthur Chinese are beginning to assume their normal state.

The Yokohama states when the Japanese steamer Naniwa Sushira was being entered the harbor of Chemulpo, a British man-of-war stopped her and made inquiries about the movements of any squadron of a certain country. The Japanese government has contracted with the shipbuilding yard of Schichan, at Elbing, for the building of one big and eight small torpedo boats.

While Mr. Alexieff seems to have a free hand with the Korean finances minister, Mr. Brown is still chief collector of customs and is found daily at the head office. In the past Mr. Alexieff has been in the game Russia has been playing in Seoul, in that he had accumulated funds of the Korean customs in his own name. Mr. Alexieff has only the current empty treasury to amuse himself with. The Kōkum Shinbun states that according to a private letter received from Seoul a rumor is being circulated to the effect that preparations are being made to send a force of 2000 men to the peninsula under pretext of body guards for the Korean emperor.

ALMOST A LYNCHING.

A Hanging Bee Narrowly Averted at Burlington, Iowa.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Feb. 10.—A. D. Storms, the confessed murderer of Mrs. Matham and her daughter at Burlington, came near paying the penalty for his crime Tuesday night, when a mob composed of 5000 determined men assaulted the jail and demanded the deliverance of the prisoner into their hands. Early in the evening his wife was posted throughout the city calling upon all citizens to gather for the purpose of vindicating the crime. In response the mob quickly assembled. After stating the object of the meeting, the leader denounced a rumor that the mob was to the jail. In answer to the mob's demands Sheriff Smith asked that a committee be appointed to see that the mob was thoroughly searched to prove the truth of his statement that Storms had been removed from the jail. This was acceded to, and as a result the committee reported after thorough search that Storms was not in the jail. The mob was not satisfied and demanded another search, and threatened the sheriff and officers for having frustrated their designs.

In the meantime Storms was in the custody of Officers O'Brien and O'Brien, and was being taken to the jail. The mob had been taken in a closed carriage at a first preliminary search. At one o'clock yesterday morning the officers procured a team and started from the city across the country, making the one mile to Metropolis, a point on the Burlington route, where the train was taken to this city. The officers related that during the flight from the jail Storms completely collapsed through fear, and upon his arrival at the hiding place dropped into a stupor from which he was with difficulty aroused. During the trip the mob drove across the country, the trio were completely smothered with heavy coating of mud, and their appearance on the train showed the desperate nature of their flight. The party proceeded to Anamosa, where the prisoner was placed in the state penitentiary for safe keeping.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

Sheriff McKinnon of Carlton County and His Fees.

St. Paul, Feb. 10.—Chief Justice Start of the supreme court yesterday affirmed the decision of the lower courts in three cases, and reversed it in one. William McKinnon, respondent, vs. board of county commissioners of Carlton county, Minnesota, appellant. Order reversed.

"The plaintiff, as sheriff, seized property, by virtue of tax warrant and was about to sell it when the taxpayer, claiming the taxes to be void, reclaimed the property. The plaintiff recovered in the previous action judgment for the value of his special interest in the property, including costs and fees on the warrant. Thereon the defendant county, against the protest of the plaintiff, compromised and satisfied the judgment without paying the amount included therein for such fees: 'Held, first—that the county had no power to satisfy the judgment as to the amount included therein for the costs and fees of the plaintiff on the warrant. Second—that plaintiff's remedy was to apply to the court to set aside the satisfaction of the judgment as to his personal interest therein.'"

"Third—that the county is not liable for such fees, following Chapin vs. Ramsey county, 75 N. W. 329. Judgment reversed."

DE LOME MUST GO

United States Has Demanded the Recall of the Spanish Minister.

WROTE THE LETTER

Minister Woodford Instructed
By the State Department
to Demand Recall.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The state department this morning gave out for publication the substance of the cablegram sent yesterday to Gen. Woodford, our minister to Madrid, in reference to the De Lome letter. The statement is as follows:

"There has appeared in the public press a letter addressed by the Spanish minister to Mr. Canalejas. This letter, the minister admits, was written by him. It contains expressions concerning the president of the United States of such a character as to end the minister's usefulness as a representative of his government in this country."

Gen. Woodford was therefore instructed to at once say to the minister that the United States government is not prepared to receive him as a representative of his government. It is stated that up to this time no response has been received from the Spanish government. Up to 10:30 today Sen. Duffey De Lome has been in the state department, but he has not yet been seen by the minister.

It is believed that this will soon be given to the minister by the Spanish government. The necessity of activity by this country in giving to the minister his passports, however, did not deny the authority of the private citizen now, although technically still Spain's representative.

Evans in connection with the minister's letter has been transpiring rapidly within the last few hours and all the state department has been kept busy. The information was meager, and because of the meagerness of the information from Cuban sources, he characterized the reports as ridiculous. At no time, however, did he deny the authenticity of the letter to Canalejas. Later, when fully acquainted with the fact, he cut the Spanish government off, stating that the letter was about to be published, and that in his judgment the effect would be to end his usefulness as the representative of Spain in Washington.

This was Tuesday night before the publication had appeared, and in effect it was a tender of resignation, although couched in the terms usual to diplomats. The resignation of the minister would be an end. This continues to be the status up to the present time. The report of resignation being before the authorities at Madrid. What action they had taken or will take has not been given evidence in the trial and is the only one who can relieve the representative of her government of his post. The resignation of the minister will not be concluded. In the meantime a cabinet council may consider the matter, but should be conclusive, the queen simply giving official execution to the cabinet's decision.

At 11:15 Judge Gary entered the room and his guards entered through the door leading from the jail to the court house. The big prisoner was taken to the courtroom, and did not seem nervous at all. He was quickly taken to the courtroom to see if the jury was waiting for him, and finding it was not, sank easily in a chair to await his coming. He smiled at one or two friends, but after the first glance round the courtroom he turned his head away, watching the door through which the jury must enter. In a minute they filed in, passing to the state which they had occupied during the seventy-two days of the trial.

Judge Gary wheeled sharply in his chair to the jury entered, and watched them silently as they filed to their seats. Then he spoke in his usual calm, even tone.

"Gentlemen, have you agreed on a verdict?"

"We have," was the reply.

"Mr. Clerk, read the verdict," said Judge Gary.

Clerk Knopf stepped forward, took the verdict and then read with a tremor on the state which they had occupied during the seventy-two days of the trial.

"We, the jury, find with a defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, his imprisonment for life."

There was a hush and all eyes turned on Judge Gary to see how he would take it. He laughed, and laughed in a manner that showed plainly by his countenance that he did not think the verdict a serious matter comparatively speaking.

His clerk, Deane, smiled grimly as the verdict fell from the lips of the clerk, and Police Inspector Schack and Police Capt. Schuetter, who have worked desperately in the case, gave signs of satisfaction of the most unmixed variety.

Ends of Clerk Knopf's voice had hardly died away before Attorney General McKinnon stepped forward and said that the jury was polled. This was done each affirming the verdict. Then Mr. Hanson entered motion for a new trial which was entered and will be argued within a few days.

Lutger was led back to jail in apparently good spirits, glad for one thing that his long suspense was ended at last, and confident by the assurances of his lawyers that he will get a new trial, and that the state will not be able to convict him a second time.

To a reporter tonight Lutger said: "I don't see how the evidence justifies such a verdict. But one thing is sure, the supreme court will give me a new trial, and I shall be acquitted."

From the time when the prisoner was led to receive the verdict until the ballots conducted him back to his cell, his face showed not one tremor of any sort of emotion. He smiled repeatedly even when the verdict was read by the clerk, and shook hands with his attorneys and the others that gathered around him.

WROTE THE LETTER

Minister Woodford Instructed
By the State Department
to Demand Recall.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The state department this morning gave out for publication the substance of the cablegram sent yesterday to Gen. Woodford, our minister to Madrid, in reference to the De Lome letter. The statement is as follows:

"There has appeared in the public press a letter addressed by the Spanish minister to Mr. Canalejas. This letter, the minister admits, was written by him. It contains expressions concerning the president of the United States of such a character as to end the minister's usefulness as a representative of his government in this country."

Gen. Woodford was therefore instructed to at once say to the minister that the United States government is not prepared to receive him as a representative of his government. It is stated that up to this time no response has been received from the Spanish government. Up to 10:30 today Sen. Duffey De Lome has been in the state department, but he has not yet been seen by the minister.

It is believed that this will soon be given to the minister by the Spanish government. The necessity of activity by this country in giving to the minister his passports, however, did not deny the authority of the private citizen now, although technically still Spain's representative.

Evans in connection with the minister's letter has been transpiring rapidly within the last few hours and all the state department has been kept busy. The information was meager, and because of the meagerness of the information from Cuban sources, he characterized the reports as ridiculous. At no time, however, did he deny the authenticity of the letter to Canalejas. Later, when fully acquainted with the fact, he cut the Spanish government off, stating that the letter was about to be published, and that in his judgment the effect would be to end his usefulness as the representative of Spain in Washington.

This was Tuesday night before the publication had appeared, and in effect it was a tender of resignation, although couched in the terms usual to diplomats. The resignation of the minister would be an end. This continues to be the status up to the present time. The report of resignation being before the authorities at Madrid. What action they had taken or will take has not been given evidence in the trial and is the only one who can relieve the representative of her government of his post. The resignation of the minister will not be concluded. In the meantime a cabinet council may consider the matter, but should be conclusive, the queen simply giving official execution to the cabinet's decision.

At 11:15 Judge Gary entered the room and his guards entered through the door leading from the jail to the court house. The big prisoner was taken to the courtroom, and did not seem nervous at all. He was quickly taken to the courtroom to see if the jury was waiting for him, and finding it was not, sank easily in a chair to await his coming. He smiled at one or two friends, but after the first glance round the courtroom he turned his head away, watching the door through which the jury must enter. In a minute they filed in, passing to the state which they had occupied during the seventy-two days of the trial.

Judge Gary wheeled sharply in his chair to the jury entered, and watched them silently as they filed to their seats. Then he spoke in his usual calm, even tone.

"Gentlemen, have you agreed on a verdict?"

"We have," was the reply.

"Mr. Clerk, read the verdict," said Judge Gary.

Clerk Knopf stepped forward, took the verdict and then read with a tremor on the state which they had occupied during the seventy-two days of the trial.

"We, the jury, find with a defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, his imprisonment for life."

There was a hush and all eyes turned on Judge Gary to see how he would take it. He laughed, and laughed in a manner that showed plainly by his countenance that he did not think the verdict a serious matter comparatively speaking.

His clerk, Deane, smiled grimly as the verdict fell from the lips of the clerk, and Police Inspector Schack and Police Capt. Schuetter, who have worked desperately in the case, gave signs of satisfaction of the most unmixed variety.

Ends of Clerk Knopf's voice had hardly died away before Attorney General McKinnon stepped forward and said that the jury was polled. This was done each affirming the verdict. Then Mr. Hanson entered motion for a new trial which was entered and will be argued within a few days.

WAR IS STARTED.

Harcourt Cut in County Order Discounts Is Made.

There are no marked developments in the harbor between the brokers and the shippers. Three firms have cards in the harbor. One simply gives the firm's name and says it buys them. Another gives the name and address of the shipper, and advises the fact that his ship is in the harbor. The third gives the name and address of the shipper, and advises the fact that his ship is in the harbor.

PASSED SOME HERE.

Begins Dollars Were Passed in Duluth This Week.

It has developed that some of the counterfeit dollars turned out by J. H. Williams, who was arrested in Ashland, Wis., Tuesday for passing counterfeit dollars, and who had a money factory at room 11 in the Mesaba block, may have been put in circulation in Duluth. Two bogus dollars resembling those issued in Williams' town and bearing the same date, 1886, were passed at Mrs. Wirth's drug store early in the week.

United Order of Foresters.

H. W. Eaton Thinks Western Booms Are Not Permanent.

H. W. Eaton has just returned from a month's visit to the Pacific coast, during which time he has visited Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and other cities. He says that after investigating the business conditions that exist there very carefully, he is convinced that Duluth is superior to any of them. Seattle, he says, is just now booming, but its prosperity is based on the Alaska gold excitement.

Decrease in Births.

There were 71 births in Duluth in January, against 85 for the corresponding month last year. Thirty-two were males and 39 females.

SCALDED TO DEATH

A West End Baby Finds Death In a Tub of Boiling Water.

The bricklayers, masons and timber men employed by Contractor Frederickson, on the pump-house, struck this morning because of failure to get their pay, which was included in the estimates for January, which was attached yesterday afternoon under claims against Mr. Frederickson. The estimate amounts to $2500, while the claims against him are $322, and it is expected that an arrangement may be made to release enough to pay the men without delay. If the trouble is not settled by tomorrow, City Engineer McGilvray will put men on the work.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

The Frightful Death of a West Duluth Baby.

Clarence Ryan, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ryan, residing on Fifty-first avenue west, near Gosnell street, died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning as the result of falling into a tub of scalding water Tuesday morning. The child was playing about the kitchen when the accident happened. Mrs. Ryan had filled the tub for the washing, and while her back was turned the child lost his balance in peering over the edge and fell in. The mother heard his cries and rushed him before he had been immersed more than a few seconds. Dr. D. Graham was sent for, but medical skill was of no avail, and the child's condition grew steadily worse until the end.

PLENTY OF WEATHER.

More Bad Atmospheric Conditions Are Due Tonight.

Duluth has had a good many brands of weather this winter besides the brand that is usually expected at this time, but it is not likely that there has been any less popular than that which in progress today. A mixture of fog and rain, with just enough cold to make the water slippery, greeted the people when they awoke this morning, and later a sort of mixed rain and hail followed. Still later came a blinding snowstorm lasting an hour.

The international contest yesterday was won by Canada. It was for the Dodge trophy between the United States rink and an equal number of rinks selected by the Canadians at the bonspiel. Smith, Duluth; T. H. Verne, Winnipeg; B. J. MacLeod, Duluth; E. J. Potchen, Fort William; 10.

A HOSPITABLE VETERAN.

Entertains Two Indians at His New Duluth Home.

A couple of Indians, Mitchell and Mary Doney, brother and sister, were arranged before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of drunkenness. They pleaded guilty and went up on the hill for ten days. Thereby hangs a tale, the scene of which is in New Duluth, and in which Clarence Chamberlain, a well known C. A. R. man residing there, acts a figure. Mr. Chamberlain filled up with bug juice yesterday and became mellowed, and an unusually friendly state of mind toward all mankind. In this state he ran across the Doneyes and in a burst of hospitable feeling invited them up to his house to crack a bottle. Mrs. Chamberlain being conveniently away. They accepted and a bottle—a good, large bottle—was cracked. The fun grew fast and furious. When Mrs. Chamberlain returned about 6 o'clock the appearances indicated that a regular saturnalia had been going on. The Indians were lying on the floor of the sitting room in a drunken stupor, while the host was stretched out unconscious. Officer Provinsky was called and he took charge of the aborigines, leaving Mr. Chamberlain to the mercies of his outraged spouse. From expressions of the latter it is believed that the Indians had the best end of it so far as punishment is concerned.

CONSULTING ENGINEER NEEDED.

Necessary to Unify New and Old Water Plants.

To put the newly acquired gas and water plant in first-class condition and connect the old water system with the new one is one of the most important tasks that Mayor Nelson has to perform during the second term of his administration, said a gentleman to an evening Herald reporter today. This is a very important undertaking and will require the utmost skill and business sagacity on the part of the mayor. It is done properly the services of an engineer who has had experience in waterworks engineering should be engaged to assist City Engineer McGilvray. While the city engineer is thoroughly acquainted with the work he does not claim to have had any special experience in waterworks engineering and experience in this particular branch of engineering work has given him.

It is generally conceded, he continued, that some mistakes have been made in the construction of the supplementary plant which will have to be rectified and when the work is undertaken it should be done in the most intelligent manner. During the years of controversy and litigation in which the gas and water company has been engaged with the city, a great deal of money has been expended in keeping up the plant and it would not be wise to make repairs were not needed to place it in a first-class state of efficiency. Extensions will have to be made to provide service for territory that is now without either gas, water or sewers, and it is costly mistakes to be avoided and an expert specialist in waterworks engineering is an absolute necessity. The expense of it will be trifling in comparison to the saving that will be made in the end, and I hope that the mayor and council will take immediate action.

NORTHWESTERN CONSOLIDATION.

All Roads of the System to Be Actually United.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The Post today says: The consolidation of the different companies which go to make up the Chicago & Northwestern system has been definitely decided upon. The roads are the Chicago & Northwestern; the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha; and Sioux City & Pacific. Together these lines embrace 7067 miles of road. For years they have been operated in the closest harmony, and the connection between them has almost been as close as if consolidation had actually taken place. The action now taken has been directed by one head, Marvin Huggitt is president of all the companies.

OUR FLAG UNKNOWN.

McDougal's Whaleback City of Everett a Pioneer Carrier.

From private advice we learn that with the steamer Everett, laden with provisions for the United States fleet, entered the harbor of Calcutta, with an American flag at her masthead, she was looked upon as some strange object, not because the vessel was built as a whaleback, but because the stars and stripes floated over her, says the San Francisco Journal of Commerce. The people of India so seldom see an American vessel that they labored under the impression that the United States had no ships.

PROGRESS REPORTED

The New South Shore Transportation Line Is Getting Along Nicely.

A COPPER COUNTRY

Commercial Relations Between Copper Country and Duluth Expected Soon.

Capt. C. O. Flynn is in receipt of a letter from John Croze, of Houghton, Mich., in which he reports that he is making good progress in his work of organizing a company to build and operate a steamboat line between Duluth and the copper country in Michigan and intermediate points along the south shore of Lake Superior.

It has been the idea of Mr. Croze that in order to insure the success of the proposed line the merchants in the copper country should first be interested in it, and this is now engaged in doing. If the merchants there have a financial interest in the best there will be some inducement for them to patronize it, and if they give their business it will prove successful beyond all question. After subscriptions to the stock of the proposed company have been signed by business men there, the wholesale dealers of Duluth and Superior, who will be more than anybody else directly benefited by it, will be given an opportunity to become stockholders.

The company will have a capital stock of $100,000, divided into 50,000 shares, of a par value of $2 each. But 25,000 shares of the stock will be issued at first, and the remaining 25,000 shares will remain in the treasury. With the proceeds of the sale of 25,000 shares the first boat will be built, and the remaining 25,000 shares will be reserved for use when a second boat is needed, which it is believed will be within two years.

For more than twenty-five years the merchants in the copper country have been buying most of their goods of Chicago, and it has been with the greatest difficulty that the wholesale houses at the head of the lakes have been able to get even a small share of the trade, notwithstanding the fact that they have to sell as cheap, or even cheaper, than Chicago dealers. The reason for this dates back to the panic of 1872. Prior to that time the copper country merchants bought the bulk of their goods in Detroit, Mich. When the hard times came on the Detroit houses showed a disposition to refuse them credit. Then it was that the Chicago wholesalers stepped in and volunteered to fill their orders and give all the time required in which to make payments. The action of the Chicago merchants was thoroughly appreciated, and the result has been that they have held the Michigan copper country ever since.

Last summer Duluth and Superior houses began to get some business from there, and the excursion of merchants from the copper country to Duluth helped materially in convincing them that it would be to their advantage to buy here. The steamboat enterprise originated with them, and if it should be carried out successfully, as it undoubtedly will, it will result in effecting close commercial relations between all of the cities in the Lake Superior country.

TRAINS BY JULY 1.

Claimed the Fosston Branch Will Be Doing Business By That Date.

The Grand Rapids Magnet claims to have reliable authority for the statement that trains on the Fosston branch of the Great Northern will be running by July 1. The report is that all the tracks will be completed by April 7 and track laying will commence as soon as that part of the work is finished. When it has been a well-known fact that work on the extension above Deer River has been pushed with the utmost speed, yet it was not expected that the other end of the line would be completed at such an early date. The extraordinary mild weather, we have experienced has undoubtedly been propitious for the rapid advancement of railroad work, and this in a great measure accounts for the good time made in grading. The completion of this line has been looked forward to for many years by the people of this section, and now that the time is near at hand they are naturally gratified, as the new line will tap the growing and prosperous communities of north Central Minnesota and give them direct communication with the head of the lakes. The final survey was made in the early part of last summer and work commenced in the fall. The line will run through the new counties of Cass and Beltrami, touching their respective centers, Walker and Bemidji, and will connect with the Duluth, Superior & Western at Deer River, from which point it will use the tracks of the latter named line to Duluth.

The Hubbard County Enterprise says: "We have it from what we consider perfectly reliable sources, that the Great Northern extension, after leaving Walker, will not run directly north to connect with the Fosston & Duluth, but will run around Leech Lake and connect with the other line near Deer River. This will give us closer connection with Duluth and a shorter line, and then if another line is built northwest from Park Rapids it will give us good connections both east and west. We hear also that the Northern Pacific is seriously considering the advisability of running a branch from Staples in a northwesterly direction and will probably make Hubbard and Park Rapids stations on the line."

A PRETTY PARTY.

Annual Lincoln Ball of Company G a Success.

The annual Lincoln ball given by Company G, N. G. S. M., at the Armory last evening was an extremely pleasant affair. The stormy evening had an adverse effect on the attendance, but even then 100 couples enjoyed the program. A feature of the evening was the new Company G waltz, composed by Miss Minnie Vial and played for the first time. The composition was exceedingly well received. It was played again as one of the extras. The hall was tastefully decorated and the best of music was furnished by Platten's orchestra.

Programs for Meetings Monday in the Interests of Traveling Libraries.

The movement for traveling libraries started in Wisconsin. It was so successful and beneficial in every way that the state legislature gave it recognition and financial support. A case with about thirty books is sent into a neighborhood or village and after the books have been the rounds they are sent in to a central point and exchanged for another set.

The idea is spreading and has taken hold in Minnesota, especially in state educational circles. It is proposed to make experiments in St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties. If those experiments are what is expected, then the next legislature will most likely be called upon for support.

Next Monday at 2:30 p. m. a meeting will be held in the interests of this library movement at the Saturday club rooms and the following program will be rendered:

Musical.
 Paper—"What Have Women's Clubs Done For Libraries in Minnesota?"
 Mrs. Chester McCusick, Saturday Club.
 Paper—"What a Library Can Do For Club Women?"
 Mrs. Marshall-Outlook.
 Address: Miss Gracia Countryman, Minneapolis.
 Address: Miss Martha Scott Anderson.
 "How a Traveling Library Would Help a Mining Town."
 Mr. C. E. Wilcox, Biwabik.
 Address: Charles Webster, Eveleth.
 Address: "Traveling Libraries and How to Start Them."
 Miss Stenstrom.

In the evening there will be another meeting at the Central High School assembly hall. The program has not yet been perfected, but Professor A. W. Rankin, state inspector of graded schools for Minnesota, will be present and make an address. Another speaker will be E. A. Hutchins of Ashland, secretary of the Wisconsin library commission. Miss Stearns of the Milwaukee public library will speak in the evening about the Wisconsin plan.

James H. Hoesner and Miss Gracia Countryman of the Minneapolis public library will take part in the meeting.

AUTHOR OF FREEDOM

Colored People Celebrate the Birthday of the Immortal Abraham Lincoln.

The eighty-ninth birthday of Abraham Lincoln was fittingly celebrated at Odd Fellows' hall last evening by the colored people of Duluth and West Superior. The attendance was large and a long and varied program was successfully rendered. L. A. Melker was master of ceremonies. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. Taylor, of West Superior, and then Mr. Melker made a few remarks on the object of the celebration and its significance.

Mayor Truesen was the first speaker. Among other things he said: "Great events take place in this world from time to time and God selects men as instruments to work his will. He selected Abraham Lincoln to perform a great work and he did his duty well. He was a hero, stern and unyielding when duty directed, but his heart was as tender as a child's. It was his happy duty to sign the proclamation emancipating 4,000,000 slaves. His memory is admired and loved not alone by the people from whom he struck the shackles of slavery, but by all the people of this country."

Miss Claudia Vaughn, of West Superior, recited, "The Black Legend of Lincoln," he said, "let the lesson be learned to do as much good as we can in this world. Amazing wealth is not true greatness, but in helping another. Duty well performed brings back its reward."

RAILROAD Y. M. C. A.

At Opening of Convention
Report on Railroad Work Is Heard.

WORK IN THE STATE

State Secretary Francis Reports on Y. M. C. A. Work
During the Year.

The twenty-fourth annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian association was called to order last evening at Pilgrim Congregational church by G. W. Lewis, of St. Paul. The opening of the session was delayed for some little time on account of the fact that the train bearing the Twin City delegation, which was due at 7:45 o'clock, was an hour late, and for this reason it was necessary to abbreviate the program.

About 100 delegates were present when the exercises were opened with a song service led by J. C. Hunt, of St. Paul, after which a brief address of welcome was delivered by G. W. Lewis, of St. Paul.

In the course of his remarks, he said that the Y. M. C. A. was a most efficient instrument for training young men to solve the great problems of the age.

G. W. Lewis responded, thanking the Duluth members of the association for their cordial welcome. He endorsed Governor Miller's remarks and said that the Y. M. C. A. deserved great credit for bringing young men together and teaching them unity of action for good.

Mr. Hunt then sang a solo, the delegates joining in the chorus, after which the session was continued by a report on the work of the association during the year, by E. L. Hamilton, international secretary for railroad work. His subject was, "The Railroad Department—Its Achievements and What They Signify."

In no branch of the Y. M. C. A., perhaps, had progress been so great, he said, as in the railroad work, considering the tremendous difficulties under which it was at first carried on.

When the first railroad branch was established, which was at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1872, the railroad officials were adverse to the work and it was almost impossible to get an audience with them.

On the subject, now there are 100 railroad branches in various parts of the United States, and the work is being carried on with a vigor and enthusiasm that was not to be expected.

Among the most prominent officials interested in the work are: Cornelius Gendall, of the Cleveland, Ohio, road; George Roberts, of the Lake Erie road; and E. W. Martin, of the Minneapolis road.

The late George Roberts was also an earnest advocate of the work. Railroad men have been looking at the work from a business standpoint, they were convinced that it made their employees more efficient.

He told a railroad official in Ohio that prior to the establishment of the Y. M. C. A. branches on his road the daily expenses of the men were $1000, but now they are only $500.

The speaker then turned to the subject of the Y. M. C. A. branches on the line, the daily expense from these causes had been $1000, but now it is only $500.

The significance of these things the speaker summed up under seven heads: "Work follows." They signify that the best class of employed men in the country had turned to the Y. M. C. A. for help.

WORK IN THE STATE

State Secretary Francis Re-
ports on Y. M. C. A. Work
During the Year.

The twenty-fourth annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian association was called to order last evening at Pilgrim Congregational church by G. W. Lewis, of St. Paul.

The opening of the session was delayed for some little time on account of the fact that the train bearing the Twin City delegation, which was due at 7:45 o'clock, was an hour late, and for this reason it was necessary to abbreviate the program.

About 100 delegates were present when the exercises were opened with a song service led by J. C. Hunt, of St. Paul, after which a brief address of welcome was delivered by G. W. Lewis, of St. Paul.

In the course of his remarks, he said that the Y. M. C. A. was a most efficient instrument for training young men to solve the great problems of the age.

G. W. Lewis responded, thanking the Duluth members of the association for their cordial welcome. He endorsed Governor Miller's remarks and said that the Y. M. C. A. deserved great credit for bringing young men together and teaching them unity of action for good.

Mr. Hunt then sang a solo, the delegates joining in the chorus, after which the session was continued by a report on the work of the association during the year, by E. L. Hamilton, international secretary for railroad work. His subject was, "The Railroad Department—Its Achievements and What They Signify."

In no branch of the Y. M. C. A., perhaps, had progress been so great, he said, as in the railroad work, considering the tremendous difficulties under which it was at first carried on.

When the first railroad branch was established, which was at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1872, the railroad officials were adverse to the work and it was almost impossible to get an audience with them.

On the subject, now there are 100 railroad branches in various parts of the United States, and the work is being carried on with a vigor and enthusiasm that was not to be expected.

Among the most prominent officials interested in the work are: Cornelius Gendall, of the Cleveland, Ohio, road; George Roberts, of the Lake Erie road; and E. W. Martin, of the Minneapolis road.

The late George Roberts was also an earnest advocate of the work. Railroad men have been looking at the work from a business standpoint, they were convinced that it made their employees more efficient.

He told a railroad official in Ohio that prior to the establishment of the Y. M. C. A. branches on his road the daily expenses of the men were $1000, but now they are only $500.

The speaker then turned to the subject of the Y. M. C. A. branches on the line, the daily expense from these causes had been $1000, but now it is only $500.

The significance of these things the speaker summed up under seven heads: "Work follows." They signify that the best class of employed men in the country had turned to the Y. M. C. A. for help.
